Tunney Might Do Good Training Now With Edgar Guest

(Special To The News)

SALINA, Kan., May 1.—When will the newspapers commence giving aviation an even break? There were eight persons killed all over America in Planes Sunday and it's headlined in every newspaper today.

If there was a single state that didn't get that many in automobiles Sunday it was simply because they fell below their average.

I see where Tunney has gone into training for the fellow Heeney. He trained on Shakespeare and Homer for Dempsey, but he just took a set of Zane Grey and Harold Bell Wright to get himself in condition for Heeney.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

This is universally known as May Day, but it is little different from any other day of the year, as far as any reports reaching this city today, as to its observance. No troubles of any kind had been reported early today.

Pa Newc notes that councilmen have taken the first steps towards placing a bond issue proposal for $1,000,000 before the voters at the fall election. The issue is, generally speaking, one for improvements. Voters of New Castle will need a lot of enlightenment on this issue, as so far they are largely in the dark as to what improvements are intended by this immense issue. City council will have to do some educational work if they expect to get a real vote of sentiment on this huge issue.

New Castle turned out a magnificent audience at the Business and Professional Women's annual banquet last night in the Cathedral, when the address was delivered by Judge Florence Allen of the Ohio supreme court. While the larger part of the banquet crowd was women, there was a good representation of men at the affair. The banquet was a most successful one.

Lindy's famous plane in which he made the trip over the Atlantic and its tours since, and in which he circled over New Castle one afternoon last summer, was taken to Washington by the famous flier yesterday and will be preserved for posterity at the Smithsonian Institute.

New Castle is surely becoming air minded, or aerially ambitious, whatever the correct catch phrase is. This morning as Pa Newc was riding to work, one of the young ladies of the city told him that she had a dream last night, in which she was riding in an airplane. The funny part of it was, she said, that she could not look down.

The airport on the Harlansburg road has not been named yet, or if it has, no notice of it has crept into the public prints. Pa Newc again wants to tell the people of New Castle that these columns are open to everyone who has a suggestion for a name. What shall it be?

Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York to Germany flier, who recently appeared in New Castle, is now in New York, where he is helping the city to greet the German aviators who crossed the Atlantic. Saturday evening, in a short radio address, he told the people that he was glad to renew their acquaintance. In Germany he was treated as well as the Germans are being treated over here, he says.

From latest reports, there will be no flood light system installed on the Scottish Rite cathedral for some time, because the cost of it is almost prohibitive. But, the management is working on another plan to make the place stand out at night.

Wednesday evening the first organization meeting of the proposed Civic Music association will take place at the Scottish Rite cathedral.

Eyes Of Nation On Californians As They Ballot

Day's Primary Result To Have Important Bearing On Democratic Nominee

CONCEDE HOOVER REPUBLICAN CHOICE

Three Democratic Candidates Are Seeking State's Favor For Nomination

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—The eyes of the nation were on California today as her citizens trekked to the polls to record their preference for president.

The Republicans are agreed on Herbert Hoover, but today's primary vote will serve as an official endorsement of the delegation pledged to support him at Kansas City.

It is within the Democratic ranks that the primary assumes national significance. California Democracy is divided among three leading candidates for the nomination. The winner, political observers believe, will be a good bet at Houston.

Open Issue

The Democratic issue in California is open and clear cut. It is perhaps the only one in the United States which is sharply defined upon the rival claims of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri and Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, for convention support.

Each of these candidates for the the presidential nomination have a specifically pledged delegation in this primary battle from which the party will choose.

Leading the Smith contingent is former United States Senator James D. Phelan. Opposed to Phelan is William Gibbs McAdoo, leader of the Senator Walsh faction. Oddly enough, Phelan is the man who placed McAdoo in nomination four years ago in New York against Governor Smith.

McAdoo-Walsh Combine

The McAdoo-Walsh combine represents the "dry" wing of California Democracy. Should they win, it is admitted they will form a nucleus around which the "drys" will rally at Houston in an effort to defeat New York's popular governor.

But also very much in the fight is Senator Reed, the fiery Missourian. He filed here some time ago on his western tour, and a fairly effective organization has been built up in the northern and southern ends of the state.

Indications are that San Francisco and counties to the north will roll up a heavy vote for Smith, while Los Angeles and several other counties

Boys' Parade This Afternoon

March To Start From Legion Home At 4 P. M.; Route Is On Washington Street

EXPECT HUNDREDS WILL BE IN LINE

School boys of New Castle, escorted by all the city's troops of Boy Scouts, and led by the Boy Scout band, the Boy Scout Drum and Bugle corps, and the school bands, will assemble in front of the American Legion home, corner of Falls and North Jefferson streets, at four o'clock this afternoon, where one of the greatest parades of boys that New Castle has ever witnessed will start. The parade is being sponsored by the New Castle Rotary club and the Boy Scout Council as a part of a regular Boys' Week program.

The line of march of the parade, according to Louis B. Round, who is in charge of the affair, will be down Jefferson to Washington street, then to County Line street, where a counter march will be made back down

Judge Florence Allen Is Against Companionate Marriage Theories; Believes Prohibition Is Progressing

You are just a little surprised when you first meet Judge Florence E. Allen of Ohio. One rather expects an overplus of judicial dignity in one so high in the realm of the legal world, for after all, being a state supreme judge is considerable of an honor.

There isn't any pseudo dignity about the lady, but there is a friendliness that wins you to her immediately, and a poise and a charm that could not be simulated. But not the kind of dignity that one associates with silk hats, if ladies wore silk hats.

No Companionate Marriages.

Judge Allen is against this most recent experiment in matrimonial navigation, the so-called companionate marriage. "What we need is more responsibilities for married couples instead of less," she said. "That is one reason why we have the present crime wave among youth. We are merely reaping the whirlwind of disrespect for laws and responsibilities. It is a laxity which has been years developing but we now have its fruits in young men and women who are law violators."

Prohibition? Judge Allen believes in it. She is dry and says so emphatically. As to the enforcement of the prohibitory laws she says this: "In my capacity as a judge of the Ohio supreme court I am not brought

Combined Marine Forces Seek To Engage Sandino In Decisive Battle

(International News Service)

PUERTO CABEZAS, Nacaragua, May 1.—A second American employed in the mines of the Pis Pis district which were raided by Sandino troops was believed today to be a prisoner in the hands of the rebels.

Harry Johnson a Swedish bookkeeper employed in the Laluz mine who secreted himself during the raid and subsequently made his way here has reported that an American named Head the acting superintendent of the Neptune mine is missing and has probably fallen into the hands of the guerillas.

Mine is Wrecked.

Johnson said that the Laluz mine was dynamited and totally wrecked by the rebels on April 27. He said that Head left here last week bound for Bluefields but had not been heard from since. Johnson stated he believed Head had fallen into the hands of a band of several hundred rebels reported moving towards Casa Viega.

George B. Marshall of New York, assistant manager of the Laluz mine is still believed to be in the hands of the rebels. According to the best information available he is alive and safe but no authentic word has been received since he sent a message two days after he was captured stating he was being held by the rebel Giron.

Additional marines have been landed here from the U. S. warship

Gavuzzi Still Leads In Derby

Today's Goal Of Pyle's Marathoners Is Lincoln, Illinois

By LELAND C. LEWIS
International News Service Special Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 1.—C. C. ("Cross-Country") Pyle's seventy-one pavement pounders today bent their steps northward from here, thirty-one miles to Lincoln, the town that "Honest Abe" christened by breaking a watermelon for a group of Illinois first sub-dividers.

Peter Gavuzzi, bristle-bearded Britisher, continued to lead the pack with an elapsed time of 362:22:47 for the 2,199.1 miles.

Four Hours, 40 minutes and 24 seconds behind him was Andrew Payne, youthful Oklahoman and holder of second place.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., displayed wonderful speed by arriving first after the twenty-six mile sprint from Virden, which he covered in 3:01:50, a speed of almost nine miles an hour. Gavuzzi was second in 3:07:40.

Louis Perrella, Albany, handicapped by a pulled leg tendon, dropped from ninth to tenth place, with Olli Wantinen, New York, pressing closely in eleventh position.

In a letter received by Mrs. Earl Lin Dilks from her husband who is making a good showing in the cross country marathon race, he states that he is feeling alright again and hopes to be able to strike his old pace in a few days.

The letter was written from the control in St. Louis and gives assurance that leg that has been troubling him somewhat is back to normal and that he is about fit for the home stretch in the race.

CARNEGIE STEEL VETERAN RETIRES

W. J. Parks On Pension Roll After 45 Years Service In Steel Mills

W. J. Parks of 817 DuShane street, for the past 45 years a mill worker in New Castle, and for the past 35 years employed at the Carnegie Steel plant, retired on a pension today, having reached the age of 65 years, and becoming eligible for a pension.

He was foreman of the rolling department of the Carnegie plant here, under A. L. Hilborn, when he retired, and had completed a long record of excellent service.

He started to work in the old Raney mill 45 years ago, and after ten years with that industry, became associated with the present Carnegie Steel company, where he has served ever since, or for the past 35 years.

Mr. Parks is a native of Lawrence county, having been born and spent his early childhood in Shenango township.

He has no definite plans for the future, except that he is expecting to start a trip to the west next month, and will see some of the country before he returns. He anticipates that he will go as far as the Pacific coast before returning.

Seven Hundred At Banquet Hear Woman Jurist

Judge Florence Allen Makes Appeal For Strict Adherence To Constitution

BUSINESS WOMEN'S BANQUET SUCCESS

Dr. Mildred Rogers Presides —Judge Chambers Is Among Speakers

Pleading for the application of ethical standards in our group and community relations and for a strict adherence to the constitution, Hon. Florence E. Allen, a judge of the Ohio State Supreme Court spoke to approximately 700 people Monday evening in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, when the Business and Professional Women held their annual banquet.

JUDGE F. ALLEN

The affair was almost entirely feminized. The sponsoring body was a group of business and professional women, the dinner was served by women, and with the exception of Judge James A. Chambers and the tenor soloist, Samuel Lewis, the speakers and entertainers were women. The fact that the meeting was an outstanding success is a tribute to the ability of the women back of it all.

Common Sense Address

There was little of the spell binder about Judge Allen. There was considerable home spun philosophy in her address, a great deal of hard common sense, and through it all a vein of humor that flavored the whole thing. And surrounding the whole thing was a personal charm that explained in a measure, the success of this unusual woman, the only Supreme Court judge in the United States.

"We are living a fast moving age" said Judge Allen." Science has put some marvelous inventions in our hands. But out of it all there has come no new tests of human character, no new standards of human conduct".

"We cannot afford to relax our standards of conduct in the American home. The root of all good things is in the home. And in this connection let me say that the American Home has no better friend than the American Business Woman. Many of them went into business to save some home.

"I am not here to establish the blame for the things about us. The crime we find among young people is not the fault of any one person or organization. All of them have a part in the blame, the church, the school and the home. What we must do is to intensify the emphasis upon the home. We have been getting away from what a home was intended for. It used to be a citadel of quiet where the soul could grow. Nowadays it seems to be the place where to which we return to get ready to go some other place."

"What we need is the application

River Tragedy Near Uniontown On Monongahela

Two Of Eight On Skiff Saved When Boat Strikes Log

RIVER IS HIGH; CURRENT SWIFT

Skiff Used As Ferry Between Greensboro And Masontown By Company

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 1.—Six persons were drowned in the Monongahela river near here today when a skiff, ferrying between Masontown and Greensboro, upset after it was struck by a log.

Two others were saved.

Miss Zenith Gaddis, 20, a school teacher, and five negroes, including a mother and her two children, a man and a boy lost their lives, while Mary Gaddis, 18, a sister of one of the victims, swam a half mile in the raging water before reaching shore.

Robert Kennedy, ferryman, was dragged from the water unconscious while the elder Gaddis girl sank exhausted after making a desperate effort to keep up with her sister.

Log Is Struck

The skiff was crossing the river, swollen by melting snow, when the log, partly submerged, crashed into the boat. The eight passengers were plunged into the raging water, and it was believed that only two were able to breast the waters and reach shore safely.

The skiff was owned by the Masontown Ferry company. The company uses large, light skiffs, with a capacity of about eight adult passengers, as ferries between the two towns.

Greensboro is in Westmoreland county and Masontown is in Greene county.

Two daughters of James Curry, superintendent of a nearby coal mine declined to enter the skiff shortly be-

SEEKING TO HIDE FROM REPORTERS

LONDON, May 1.—Former Crown Prince Carol who sacrificed the Roumanian throne for love of a woman, will arrive in England on Saturday to make his home here temporarily it was learned this afternoon.

It is understood that he will travel incognito as "Mr. Jones" and that he will be accompanied by Magda Helene Lupescu, with whom he has been living in Paris since he deserted his wife, Princess Helen in Bucharest. A house has been rented in Surrey for the couple.

Carol's decision to visit England caused much comment. Recently he and Mme. Lupescu left Paris and went to Brussels. Carol explained that he wanted to get away from inquisitive reporters.

Ever since the death of the late King Ferdinand there has been much rumor surrounding Carol's name. It was strongly believed that if the National-Peasant group obtained control of the Roumanian government Carol might be invited to return and accept a post as co-regent. His six year old son Michael occupies the Roumanian throne.

Father's Marriage Makes Him In-Law To Own Children

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

ALLIANCE, Neb., May 1.—Alliance, metropolis of the cow region of Nebraska, boasts a unique matrimonial alliance wherein four brothers married four sisters, their cousin is wedded to a fifth sister, and then, to cap the climax, the father of the girls has wooed and wed the mother of the boys.

The family tree has become more complicated than a crossword puzzle ever since the wedding of the last couple, C. W. Sisley, 70, and Sarah Bertha Colerick, 59. The former was a pioneer rancher, the latter the proprietress of an Alliance boarding house.

Mixing Things Up.

Sisley's four daughters, all belles of the prairie country, married Mrs. Colerick's four sons, and a fifth Sisley child, a son, has won the heart of one of Mrs. Colerick's nieces.

Sisley was father-in-law to his daughters' husbands—that is until he wedded their mother when he became their stepfather in addition. The four brother-sister combinations also became step-brothers and step-sisters when their father and mother made the union of the families unanimous.

The perplexing relationship of members of the families isn't causing any of them to lose any sleep, however. They cannot understand why anyone should get excited about it.

The Matrimonial Line-Up.

In chronological order the Sisley-Colerick matrimonial ventures follow:

1912—Melvin Colerick, 38, married Bertha Sisley, 36. They are living on a ranch near Alliance.

1916—Dan Colerick, 37, married Edith Sisley, 31. They make their home at Alliance, where Dan is a member of the city fire department.

1922—Roy Sisley, 35, brother of the sisters, married Nellie Pease, 30, niece of Mrs. Colerick, Sr. They live at Alliance, where Roy is employed as a railway fireman.

1924—John Colerick, 37, married Ethel Sisley, 38, and they live on a ranch just over the Nebraska line in Wyoming, west of Alliance.

1925—Charles Colerick, 30, married Mabel Sisley, 28. They reside at Alliance, where Charles is a barber.

1928—"Pa" Sisley, 70, married "Ma" Colerick, 59, and they live at Alliance where they are spending their honeymoon.

The only member of the Colerick family, who isn't wedded to a Sisley is a daughter, who married G. T. Prowler of Alliance.

Germany Accepts Kellogg's Plans To Renounce War

Germany's Acceptance Of United States Draft Adds Little To Broad Venture

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 1. — German acceptance of the United States' draft treaty for the renunciation of war added little today to the gloomy prospects of the broad venture, in the opinion of informed diplomatic observers here.

The German note constitutes an unqualified acceptance of the treaty submitted by Secretary of State Kellogg as a basis of negotiation between France, Great Britain, Germany, Japan, Italy and the United States. But it contributes nothing to the deadlock existing between France and the United States on the scope of the proposal general treaty.

German acceptance had been almost a certainty. No other power has replied.

Seek Revision Of Versailles Treaty

Veiled Demand From Germany To Revise Versailles Treaty Is Received By Kellogg

(International News Service)

BERLIN, May 1.—A veiled demand for revision of the treaty of Versailles is contained in the anti-war treaty note which Germany has just sent to Washington, according to interpretation placed here upon the last two sentences of the communication.

Germany gave complete support to Secretary of State Kellogg's proposals for outlawing war.

Nationalist leaders believe that the government is adopting a new policy towards the United States and France. The unqualified support given by Germany to the American proposals contrasts with the opposition of the French to certain portions of the American anti-war plan. According to the Nationalists, this indicates that the government is breaking away from the prior policy of placating France at all costs.

The plan which will be proposed is unique. But if it is to succeed, it will need your support.

Pa Newc often observes that more and more men are becoming "city broke." In street cars they allow women to stand while they solemnly peruse their papers. If lack of common courtesy is a sign of cosmopolitanism, then Pa Newc hopes New Castle will never be a metropolis.

With the outcome of the recent suit against the city for damages as the result of an auto being upset in one of the depressions in Wilmington avenue it appears to Pa Newc that it's up to the city hall occupants to get busy on a concentrated program to get some of the streets in this city repaired. If the city can be held responsible for the damage caused by these conditions, certainly the city has power to require that these depressions be fixed, and action should be taken. Wilmington avenue is not the only street that needs attention either.

By the way, when is the program of cleaning New Castle's downtown streets at night going to be started? The ordinance was passed restricting auto parking after one o'clock, in the morning, but Pa Newc isn't aware of the fact that street cleaning is being done at night, if such be the case.

Pa Newc paid a visit to the new George Washington Junior high school, located at the corner of Mercer street and Euclid avenue, yesterday. Steady progress is being made on the building and indications are that the new school will be ready for occupancy by the opening of the fall term of school this year. This building, Pa Newc believes, is one of the best of its kind around this section. Its equipment includes a swimming pool, a spacious gymnasium, a large cafeteria, an activity room and an auditorium with a seating capacity of about 1500.

of ethical standards to our group relations. There was a time when the doctrine 'the state can do no wrong', applied. Our American Revolution ended that, for in that revolution we repudiated that theory."

Former Ideals

"What has become of the ideals held out by Washington by Jefferson and by Lincoln? There is a certain kind of spiritual backbone we need. Haven't we ceased for the moment to demand this backbone from our office holders? The American people do not put their officials in office to say 'Yes' to their friends, but to say 'No' when the occasion demands it."

In an interesting way Judge Allen described her visit to Old Bailey, the court in London of which Charles Dickens speaks. She said that while they have some little of what seems useless formality in open in their court, that once started on murder trials they go through them with speed and dispatch. We can learn much from our English cousins in the matter of prosecuting criminals, according to Judge Allen.

Many Visitors

Many guests from other clubs of the Business and Professional Women were present. The state president, Mrs. Helen Schluraff of Erie was present as was the state treasurer of the organization. Anna Adams of Pittsbrugh. Club presidents were Jane Gilliland of Sharon, Mary Beardsley of Youngstown, Alberta Hull of Pittsburgh, other state officers present were Daisy Downs of Sharon, chairman of the State finance committee, and Ella King Vogel, of Pittsburgh, state publicity chairman.

Dr. Rogers Presides

Dr. Mildred Rogers, president of the New Castle chapter of the Business and Professional Women acted as toastmaster of the evening and handled the interesting program in a splendid way. Following the singing of America, Dr. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church delivered the invocation and the dinner was served by the women of the Highland United Presbyterian church.

Seated on both sides of the toastmaster were the guests from the other clubs and the two judges of the Lawrence County Courts, L. Lawrence Hildebrand and James A. Chambers. Judge Chambers spoke briefly prior to the introduction of Judge Allen, and Mrs. Helen Schluraff of Erie, state president of the B. P. W. spoke. Samuel Lewis, well known tenor of this city sang two numbers and was received enthusiastically. He was accompanied by Ruth McEwen Caldwell.

There was pep singing during the course of the dinner, and this was directed by Miss Nana Jenkins. The orchestra music was entirely feminine, the Brewster Orchestra doing the honors and doing them well.

Over the entire evening there was an air of efficiency that spoke much for the committee in charge of the arrangements. This committee was headed by Miss Mary E. Browne, with the following committee chairmen, Publicity, Edythe M. Dunlap. Alisan Leslie, Bess Gailey; Program, Emily Rice; Decorations, Emilie Salomon; Finance and Tickets, Nancy Bechtol; Music, Nana Jenkins.

The New Castle Club of Busine and Professional Women is to be co gratulated upon the outstanding su cess of the affair, and deserves th thanks of all those who were fortunate enough to hear Judge Florence E. Allen.

"One man sneaks through a red traffic light when there are no officers around. That's violation. Another does not like the law against his selling liquor and he does it. That's violation. The gunman does not like the law against robbery and he holds people up. That's violation. All of our laws should be enforced and we must learn that a nullification on the part of any of us, of any law, leads to a disrespect of all laws.

Cumbersome Court Procedure.

"There are other reasons for so much law violation, of course. One of them is the cumbersome court procedure we have. This breeds disrespect for law, but I believe we are getting to the place where we are beginning to speed up our courts."

From a newspaper standpoint there is one criticism one might make of the distinguished feminine jurist and that is that she does not carry a copy of her address with her. "It's just impossible," she said. "Six of us on the bench share three stenographers, which means half a stenographer each. Under the Ohio law, all opinions must be written and reasons given for the opinion and if I took time to dictate all my speeches, the poor girl would get little else done."

All of which goes to make more work for the reporters covering her addresses. Judge Allen herself is a former newspaper woman. From 1906 to 1909 when she was studying law in Cleveland she was on the staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. This may be responsible for her friendliness or her charm, or it may be the reason why she knows what to say when she is being interviewed. The conclusion a newspaper man might easily draw is that the Fourth Estate lost a mighty valuable member when the Law called her.

She is an unusual woman is Judge Florence E. Allen. She just radiates efficiency and thoroughness and after talking to her for a short time one can easily understand why she has climbed so high in her chosen profession.

She spoke Monday evening in the Scottish Rite cathedral under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's club of New Castle. Because she had to be in court at Columbus, O., on Tuesday morning she had to leave before 10 o'clock Monday night.

BUDGET EXPERT IS SPEAKER, MONDAY

The American Home department of the Woman's club was in charge of the meeting Monday afternoon in the Highland U. P. church. Mrs. Forrest Thompson introduced Mrs. Grace M. Fisher, budget expert of the Kaufman store, Pittsburgh as the speaker.

She stated a budget is merely a method of converting raw material into a plan of getting more out of life. We should plan our expense just as we plan for the education of our children. To spend wisely is more important than to save deligently. The big and worth while things are made possible by accumulated money. Make your allotment and then stick to it. Budgets do not come ready made. Each person must build his own.

Budgeting is especially valuable to young couples. Mrs. Fisher says her department has interviewed 17,000 people in the past year and deplores the building of a plan which takes into account the spending of every cent but thinks the percentage basis more efficient and easier.

The club voted to send letters to Senator David Reed and W. E. Borah asking them to endorse the Gillette resolution which has for its bases the adherence of the United States to the World Court and the Permanent Court of International Justice. Individual letters from club members may be sent to the Senate Office building, Washington, D. C.

Goes To Source Of Stomach And Kidney Trouble

Ellwood City Man Had Great Change In Health After He Got Konjola.

MR. FRANK LYONS

"A few weeks ago I never thought I would be making this statement but Konjola has so completely ended my stomach and kidney trouble that I want to indorse such a medicine to others", said Mr. Frank Lyons, Fountain Avenue Extension, Ellwood City (near New Castle) in a recent report he gave to the Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily explaining the merits of this new medical compound.

"Ever since I realized my health was going down hill I tried to find a remedy that would build up my system and end those awful miseries I suffered", continued Mr. Lyons, "but nothing ever helped me until I started taking Konjola.

"My whole system was dreadfully rundown. Finally I was forced to stop working because of the awful miseries I suffered from my kidneys. Every night I would have to rise three and four times because of weakness. All during the day my back ached so much that it was almost impossible for me to bend over. I would have awful dizzy spells when it was necessary for me to hold onto something to keep from falling. Quite often I would have a pain in my left side that was so bad I would double up. Just recently my hand was affected with rheumatism and I could hardly use it. My nerves were all unstrung and I was always worrying about my health. I had no pep or energy and this made every day a drudgery to me.

"I was told to give Konjola a trial and when I made inquiry about this medicine, I found everybody recommending it highly and that it relieved the suffering of many people who were never benefited before. This gave me confidence in Konjola. I started to take it regularly as directed and within a week's time, I noticed a new feeling of life over my whole system. I began eating heartily and some of the things I had not eaten for a long time digested perfectly and never caused me the least bit of distress afterward. But best of all the trouble from my kidneys began to disappear and soon I was able to sleep through the entire night without rising once. I returned to work because the pains in my back were gone and I did not have those dizzy spells or headaches. Finally the rheumatism in my hand vanished and I was able to use it just as if I never had that ailment. My sleep is sound and restful and I get up in the morning feeling greatly refreshed and full of energy.

"Konjola has been a splendid medicine for me and just what my upset system always needed. A trial convinced me of the merits of this medicine and I am sure it will do the same for other sufferers."

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Roberson-Smith Players Triumph In Opening Night

With a house that was packed from footlights to exits, the Roberson-Smith players came back to New Castle Monday night in the Capitol Theatre using as their opening vehicle, "Take My Advice".

While the play itself was splendidly done, the audience seemed more interested in greeting the players and the hand they got was a tribute to the work of the Roberson-Smith grade of artists.

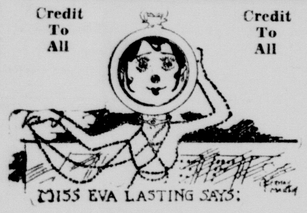

Al Smith made a speech of course. Al does so on the slightest provocation and then he introduced the cast. All of them are new to New Castle except Miss Ellis who was here last season and she was greeted as an old friend.

The leads this season are Dorothy McClelland and Allen Towers and if their work of last night is any criterion, New Castle is going to like them. "Take My Advice" will be in the Capitol all week, with matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Next week the company will present, "Why Men Leave Home".

Your Lenses WERE a "Perfect Fit"
But That Was Two Years Ago!

WHEN you had your present glasses fitted, two years ago, or more, you were wise enough to insist on a precise prescription and an exact fitting of lenses made by an expert for the special needs of your eyes as they were.

Suppose you had demanded the lenses be made to fit your eyes as they were two years before. Foolish? Yes—but aren't you now wearing lenses fitted for eyes two years younger than yours? And isn't it the same?

Fit your eyes for today's needs. Eyes change—lenses never do. Come for an examination—or phone for an appointment—today.

If you suffer from headache and nervousness, consult our eyesight specialist today. Glasses give relief.

GO ON TO SCHOOL

ONCE again the period of school commencements is arriving. In some of the township high schools of Lawrence county, commencement proceedings are but a few days away. In all of the county schools, commencement will be a feature of the next few weeks.

Several hundred pupils will be graduated from grade and high schools of both the cities and the county.

In some of these cases it will mark the end of schooling for the pupil. In these days however, a larger majority of those who are graduated from our high schools are continuing their studies through a higher educational institution than a decade ago, while a much larger majority of the grade school graduates are enrolling in the high schools.

To every pupil in any school in this city or county who receives a diploma in the next few weeks, we would urge that he or she continue his schooling if it is at all possible. The day once was when a young man or woman possessed of a college education stood out as a marked man or woman, with a real advantage in the battle of life. Today, the condition is such that most young men or women who do not get a college education, are somewhat handicapped.

Go on to school if you can!

BETTER SOLDIERS

RECRUITING sergeants looking for "rookies" in the old days were never finicky about the intelligence of the candidate for a place in the ranks of the United States army. All the sergeant cared for was to make a good showing in the quantity of husky raw material.

Today quality rather than quantity is the aim of the recruiting officers. It is no longer sufficient to know that the applicant is healthy and willing to serve. He must have at least a modicum of intelligence.

In times of great emergency almost any one with the willingness to carry a rifle was acceptable, but the army today is particular as to the kind of men who will be accepted for enlistment. Applicants are now subjected to intelligence tests prescribed by the war department. These tests cover a wide field, and so far as tried out they have proved satisfactory.

Not only have these intelligence tests helped to eliminate from the ranks men whose mental capacity is below the standard, but they have likewise led the recruiting officers to believe that they will prove highly beneficial in a financial way, for it has been expensive to send would-be soldiers to headquarters and begin training them, only to find them unfitted for military service.

ELIMINATION MORE IMPERATIVE

RECENTLY newspapers and railroads gave wide publicity to a decision of the United States supreme court defining the respective responsibilities of railroads and motorists at grade crossings. Among other things the ruling said:

"When a man goes upon a railroad track he knows that he goes to a place where he will be killed if a train comes upon him before he is clear of the track. He knows that he must stop for the train, not the train stop for him. In such circumstances it seems to us that if a driver cannot be sure otherwise whether a train is dangerously near, he must stop and get out of his vehicle, although obviously he will not often be required to do more than to stop and look. It seems to us that if he relies upon not hearing the train or any signal and takes no further precautions, he does so at his own risk."

With responsibility for his own life thus placed squarely upon the individual, it would seem that he could be persuaded to exercise greater caution in crossing grade crossings. It would seem so, but it has not worked out that way. No diminution in grade crossing accidents has been noted since the nation's highest trimunal handed down its ruling.

This only serves to place additional emphasis upon the urgent need for grade crossing elimination, better safety and warning devices, and greater care on the part of the driver.

THE AWAKENING ORIENT

"MADE IN CHINA" means not only that the article bearing that legend is produced in China but that it is produced at a cost 25 to 40 per cent less than the cost of manufacturing the same thing in the United States. That difference in production cost is the basis for the surprising development that has taken place in China in recent years.

In going over the list of electrical products turned out by various factories in Chinese industrial centers, it is amazing to note the number of articles which this small industry already has contributed, almost wholly through the efforts of native engineers. All the ordinary electrical devices of the Occident have been duplicated, even to electric motors, and practically the only machinery used extensively in the electrical industry that is still exclusively imported from America and Europe is large dynamos.

Fans, heaters, every sort of fixture, switch and insulator, radio apparatus and other delicate instruments, transformers and motors, incandescent lamps and household appliances are included in the list, and in many cases there is a distinct tendency to suit the goods produced to the peculiar demands of the Chinese market, something which none of the foreign firms has yet attempted, and to engage to a limited extent in export trade.

As far as the United States is concerned there is little threat in this industrial development in China. That country's consumption of electrical apparatus is relatively small and should it ever become electrified on a large scale it is doubtful that the domestic industry could meet the demand.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:56. Sun rises tomorrow 4:57.

Smile.

If Moses were around these days, chances are, he'd find the need of writing more than just ten commandments.

If we did not like the preacher who presided in our church we would get out of it and not go around knocking him, as so many do in these days of free thought and action.

Money may not be everything, but you cannot make a friendless old person believe that.

We have read frequently where Col. Lindbergh was with and took his lawyer with him on flights. No doubt the lawyers will attribute the Colonel's failure to get in bad to this precaution.

Today's Storyette

A mine superintendent who had gone down into the lower levels to talk to a crew of men imprisoned by a cave-in was getting their last message.

"George," he shouted to one colored miner, through a narrow aperture, "are you married?"

"Nossuh," answered the lugubrious voice, "dis hyah am de wustest fix Ah evah been in yit."

Many a man suffering from a "big head" wears only a 6 7-8.

The county commissioners who were elected last fall, all three of them, were not elected on a platform of tax reduction, so they are not violating any promise when they boost the county taxes. It's the bird who makes promises and does not make good that is not so good.

The only thing a woman puts on over her head these days is her beads.

Dear Hints and Dints: This is a copy verbatim of a wedding occurrence as printed in one of my old home town papers:

"The groom wore a smile that would not come off all day long. It was sort of cynical, presumably caused by being somewhat bashful and having to ask the bride's parents, consent more than once. The bride was long sought by all the young men and old eligibles for many months before her final capture. At the wedding ceremony she wore nothing but smiles."

That sounds strange, but nowadays they almost wear nothing anyway.

A man known for many years in New York as a miser, wearing rags and holding them together with wire, going without socks and living in the most adject poverty died and it was found he had over a quarter of a million of perfectly good American dollars. People who have that much money should murder a great portion of it for their own individual and private enjoyment, so help me rutabagas!

A twenty dollar light colored hat will get soiled just as easily by being rubbed on the top of an automobile as will the ordinary dollar kind. Automobiles are being built so low these days a full sized man nearly has to lay down in one and it is not the cheap cars that are being built that way. However, it's great business for the hatmakers and hat cleaners. Keeping the celing of an automobile clean is some job.

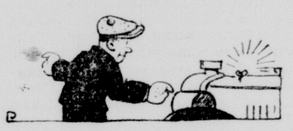

It is said that the problem of an artist is to conceal art. If the designer of feminine wear of the day is an artist art is about the only thing he has concealed.

In Brighton township, Beaver county, they had a bond election last week and when the polls closed the vote stood "no" 29 and "yes" 29. When the return was made in the Beaver court house the vote was yes 31 and no 28. People who want to win an election at least in Beaver county should hold it in Woodlawn.

Since January 1 of this year eight policemen have been murdered while in the performance of their duty. And some people always knock a policeman! The policeman carries his life in his hands every minute he is on duty and is entitled to the support and respect of every citizen—that is citizens who have not good reasons for being afraid of a policeman.

A Los Angeles actress eloped with a man and left him four days afterwards. She just made a general statement about the affair which is more or less confusing to those who desire facts.

A politician and former vice president of a bank at Fort Wayne, Ind., was sentenced to four years in Atlanta for violation of the banking laws. He didn't get anything for being a politician.

A negro in Chicago will likely have a seat in the next congress. People are being taught to be democratic and liberal in their voting these days so our colored brethern no doubt will get together and when the white folks are scrapping they can get their man in. We are betting the colored man makes good.

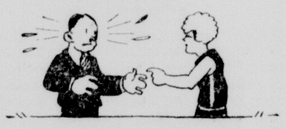

An Epitaph of Bad Roads

They took a little gravel,
And took a little tar,
With various ingredients
Imported from afar:
They hammered it and rolled it,
And when they went away
They said they had a good street
To last for many a day.

They came with picks and smote it,
To lay a water main,
And then they called the workmen
To put it back again.
To lay a railway cable
They took it up once more,
And then they put it back again
Just where it was before.

They took it up for conduits,
To run the telephone,
And then they put it back again
As hard as any stone.
They tore it up for wires
To feed the 'lectric lights;
And then they put it back again,
And were within their rights.

Oh, the street's full of furrows,
There are patches everywhere;
You'd like to ride upon it,
But it's seldom that you dare.
It's a very handsome street,
A credit to the town;
They're always digging of it up
Or putting of it down.

If you really were the first girl he loved, it wouldn't occur to him to say so.

Stop Sticking Pins Into Yourself

In India, there are many religious fanatics who get darned little fun out of life. They make a business of torturing themselves by thrusting sharp instruments into their flesh. They believe that, if they punish themselves physically here on earth, they will be received without question into a happy paradise hereafter.

Now the question is: Are you punishing yourself physically by keeping your nose so close to the grindstone that you haven't time to enjoy the great experiment of living? Do you believe that you will be any happier in heaven if you work and worry yourself into an early grave here on earth? Of course you don't!

Maybe you have just gotten into the habit of letting your business run you instead of you running your business. Why not pause and take stock of yourself? See if you are taking your business worries home with you at night. See if you are getting the amount of happiness out of each day to which you are justly entitled.

What good are riches if in accumulating them we forget the art of being happy?

A Pittsburgh man took 64 couples to Paris to help him celebrate his 25th wedding anniversary. The bill for the trip was over $100,000. Thirty years ago he did not have the price of a meal, but he owns a string of drug stores now. We shiver to think of the things wished on him by the jealous souls who read about it.

If you go into a restaurant and don't know what you're wanting, order hash and then you won't know what you are getting.

Two young men in Pittsburgh were arrested for stealing some bales of hay. Wonder what hey would want hay for these days?

During 1927 three men died in the United States and one insurance company paid their heirs $10,752,000. We are not interested in any insurance company, but a man who has dependents is not doing the right thing by his loved ones if he does not have something for them if he dies. The people who got those millions evidently did not need them.

Just to think that in the good old days Sunday evening church, a buggy ride and a 25-cent box of candy were the last word in courtship.

We know all about the great improvements that have been made in the equipment necessary to publish newspapers, but we have not been in a job printing plant for some years until a few days ago we were in the plant of Miller, Pyle & Graham the well known local job printers. We were astounded at the wonderful presses and binding machinery and ruling machinery and type and a thousand other wonderful things they now have to do the fine printing they are so justly noted for. Job printing is a wonderful business these days.

While a butcher in Berlin was watching for thieves with a shotgun in his hands who were trying to steal his chickens burglars broke into his slaughter house and stole $500 worth of hides. That butcher can well claim he was skinned.

A colored minister was hustling recruits for the mourners' bench. On the outer edge of the crowd he noticed a husky colored man who seemed to have something on his mind. The parson walked up to him and asked, "Brother, am you' lookin' for salvation?"

"No, sah," replied the Negro, "ah's lookin' fo' Sal Jackson."

Next year a new law goes into effect in Pennsylvania. It provides for a tax of four mills on ALL personal property and the money thus secured is to be used for county purposes. There is going to be a lot of excitement over the enforcing of that law. The man who will have charge of the new office at Harrisburgh will get $12-000 a year.

A Bill for Thought.
Big Railroad Deals.
Hoover and Smith Bets.
Devil Fish and Bootlegger.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

The McNary-Haugen bill is enthusiastically passed by the Senate. There are elections coming. The House will pass it also, many that vote for it counting on the President's veto to counteract their vote.

That the President will veto the bill is probable and that it will be passed over his veto is probable.

According to wise men, some "best minds," far removed from farming, now approve the bill.

Anything to make the farmers more prosperous would be welcomed, but the so-called "Farmers Bill" may surprise farmers when understood.

According to wise ones, the government would tell packers at what price they must buy hogs, and tell flour men at what price they must buy wheat. And the government would guarantee profits to packers and flour men. After they had sold all the American public would buy, at prices much increased, of course, packers, millers, cotton men, etc., would "dump" the balance in foreign markets at any price obtainable.

And whatever the "processes" lost by dumping, the government would make up in hard cash, taken from taxpayers. There is all equalization plan of doubtful value.

Another feature of the bill would be complicated bookkeeping and inspection, involving gigantic armies of additional public servants.

When a packer buys a pig he changes it into scores of products. He would report profits and losses to the government, and the government would have to investigate every detail. The prospect of government price-fixing, with guarantees and inflation, worries some men that think.

Big railroad combinations are good for everybody.

The Pennsylvania, having swallowed Mr. Loree's railroad lines giving him a profit of about $23,000,000, will now establish a direct line from New York to Detroit.

It is probable, also, that Gen. Atterbury, head of the Pennsylvania system, will, before long, run flying machines from New York to Detroit, and a combination rail and air line from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Big combinations make big enterprises possible, and the law should encourage them.

The best thing would be one great system for the whole country—like the postoffice system—the ablest railroad men running it, with the people as owners. But since it is agreed that our government lacks the honesty and ability that makes government ownership successful in other countries, big mergers are next best.

If the people are not intelligent enought to watch a few big concerns they would not be able to watch a lot of little concerns.

Wall Street bets six to five that Hoover will be nominated, five to one that Dawes will not be nominated, three and a half to one against Lowden.

Wall Street is supposed to oppose Hoover's nomination, but does not allow sentiment to influence betting.

Al Smith would be better than ten to one for the Democratic nomination, but no one wants to bet against him. His friends believe he will be nominated on the first ballot.

When a dog, pursuing, gets too close to a skunk, something happens and the dog knows better next time.

A devil fish, pursued, blackens the water with a cloud of blackness.

The electric eel shocks those that seize it. The porcupine has his prickly protection. And from all these, the intelligent bootlegger has borrowed an idea.

Policeman Beauregard, of Trenton, Mich., decided to overhaul a fast car that looked like a rum runner. It was a rum runner. When Beauregard drew up close behind a cloud of poisonous gas streamed from the exhaust pipe and Beauregard fell over, unconscious. The bootlegger carried a tank of poison gas, connected with the exhaust.

Senator Borah warns Republicans that "corruption is the big issue in this national election.

"The Republican party must prove that it belongs neither to crooks nor cowards."

Perhaps corruption OUGHT to be the big issue, but it is not.

Millions of farmers want better prices for wheat, pork, cotton, corn.

Millions of investors want continued high prices and paper profit.

Millions of workers want continued high wages.

Those are the issues that will influence votes.

Stealing a few tens of millions from the government will not influence many, especially as the men nominated will have had nothing to do with the stealing.

MAY DAY

It is the first day of May and something is stirring in the blood.

No matter how old and settled we are, we always feel it when May comes around.

When we were boys the fishing pools and the swimming holes and all outdoor things were beckoning.

Nature comes back with a rush in spring and everybody feels it one way or another.

We long to get out of the stuffy house and range the open spaces. The highway calls us. Somehow those gypsy songs proclaiming an open life now seem to pry through us into our hearts.

May day in Europe has often been synonymous with some uprising of the laboring class. They feel the surge for better things. They sense the depressing effect of stultifying labor. The impuse of humanity for freedom springs up in them.

Spring appeals to something in us that defies all traditions, customs and conventions, and lures a man back to get in touch with nature.

It is the season of outdoors and a judicious use of outdoors will cure almost any disease. Most of our physicial troubles, and our mental ones, too, arise from sedentary habits and close confinement in heated rooms.

Most creeds were made in closed chambers. That is why they are so belligerent.

If they had been made out of doors under the green tree perhaps they would have said something different about the God of nature and about our human obligations one to another.

It is a good plan to go with your family out of doors. Don't let the youngster get all the benefit of the open sunshine. Go to the picnic yourself and play a little in the thick grass. The ozone that you get from the out of doors will do you good when you get back into the house again.

The whole excursion will refresh you and inject force into all those natural instincts of love that you have for your family. Artificial excitements will seem tame. It is a far cry from a good game of baseball out in the pasture lot to an evening at a night club. The one leaves the blood fresh, the nerves not frayed and the mind clear. You are ready for business the next day. The other leaves you wishing you had never been born and reflecting upon the vanity of all things.

PRAYER—We rejoice to know, Lord, that Thou canst make even our enemies to be at peace with us.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TURKEY WAS NOT "WILD".

The Boy Scouts of America now have been presented with "Pine Knot", where once a President and his family, as Mr. Roosevelt tells in a letter to Kermit, dated June 11, 1905, cooked their own meals and washed the dishes.

The cooking and the dishwashing were not, by the way, for the photographers, because none was permitted to invade "Pine Knot." However ably Mr. Roosevelt employed publicity, he never was a sportsman on that account. Instead, while President, he shunned and even dreaded publicity when it touched upon his sports or when it threatened to invade his private life.

It is now almost a quarter of a century ago that President and Mrs. Roosevelt began regularly to steal down to North Garden, Virginia, when the President wished to slip away unnoticed from the cares of official Washington and from the prying eyes of the world for a few days of rest and sport. Their place there presented to Mrs. Roosevelt by her great friend, W. Wilmer, and named "Pine Knot" was some eight or ten miles from the railroad station in a plantation section, still occupied by large estates and colonial manor houses and practically unchanged since the Civil War.

It is a country of extensive forests and of unusually large pasture lands and fields in those parts sown down to grass or at present under cultivation. Broom grass and the Virginia Pull Pine are indiginous. The forests are chiefly oak, hickory and poplar with a scattering of white pine trees that have escaped the axe, and a few chestnuts that have survived the blight. Needless to say it is a natural squirrel, quail and turkey country, while across the James River, a few miles away in Buckingham County, there are still some deer.

Mr. Roosevelt's first wild turkey, it seems, was of the domestic variety, but his southern hunting companions who had tramped through the forest with the President for nearly twelve hours, were too courteous—or possibly too tired and hungry—to divulge the truth. Mr. Roosevelt later shot his share of wild birds, but he died without knowing what would have amused him vastly—that his friends surreptitiously reimbursed the Negro owner of the straying domestic fowl he was so pleased to have killed.

"Pine Knot" itself on which the LONG LIFE.

The death rate for babies continues to go down. That shows what the new learning of the twentieth century and the progress of medical science have been able to do. But the diseases that attack middle age, the diseases that come from unwise eating and drinking, from worry and fret and too little sleep are taking of folks between 50 and 70 just as fast or faster than ever. If medical science could only effect some kind of a union with the good, common sense that middle age ought to have but doesn't have, the life average of men and women might be still more comfortably prolonged.

FREEDOM.

An old proverb says a great man must be happy in a state of slavery as well as in a state of freedom. The real answer to that of course is that there can be no state of slavery for a great man. Freedom and slavery are in the thoughts of men and women. One may find it best to conform to certain rules of which he does not approve but he does not need to sell his soul to the master of the rules. His mind is free if he is big enough to prefer it to be free.

WILLING WISDOM.

It has sometimes been said with regret that no man can leave the wisdom and his experience to his heirs. In a way it is fortunate that he can not. The world moves too fast for the wisdom and experience of yesterday to catch up or keep up. If we could inherit wisdom and experience too many of us would be content to let them stand and to abide by them in content. The fact is that experience is too often only a deterrent to new and better work. Experience too often

C. B. D. CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

In England

Feudal customs and laws still govern some of the Channel Islands, which are part of England. In Guernsey, whence came the stock from which our farmers and stockmen have bred the American Guernsey cows, there is a tenant who pays his rent annually in the form of a donkey and one cake made from a bushel of wheat.

Why such silly rent? Well, it always has been a donkey and a cake made from one bushel of wheat, as long as any record runs, so the folk of Guernsey see no reason for changing the custom.

Albert B. Osborne tells about some of the interesting customs of the Channel Islands in a chapter in his book, "As it is in England," published by McBride.

A hundred thousand people live on the Channel Islands, Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney, Sark, Herm and Jethou. Mr. Osborne describes the people and their islands so sympathetically that I long to spend a summer vacation there. Only one family lives on Jethou, while more than 50,000 live in Jersey.

History has done queer things to this group of islands. The group belonged to Normandy long before the Normans went over and conquered England. So when William the Conqueror conquered, the Channel Islands remained unconquered. They became part of England only because their ruler had taken over the running of England. So the Channel Islands have always lived quite apart and aloof from the rest of England.

The courts of Guernsey and Jersey are not necessarily composed of lawyers. Grocers and fishermen and artists may become judges. I think there is some ancient wisdom in this custom. I think it is a good idea to have about half the judges in any country professional lawyers but half is a great plenty. We ought to have a few thousand doctors, editors, artists and farmers holding court in this country. The law gets too foreign, cold, professional and unfriendly when it stays too long in the hands of lawyers.

Poking about in odd corners of the world, we run upon an idea or a cu[illegible] while that seems to be founded upon common sen[illegible]

Youth Arrested By Police For Several Crimes

Youth Faces Charges Of Stealing Auto, Disarming Officer And Shooting Firearms

IS CAPTURED BY PITTSBURGH POLICE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 1.—Charged with stealing two automobiles and attempting to steal a third, holding up and disarming a motorcycle patrolman and later emptying his revolver at the officer, Paul Redding, 19, of Punxsutawney, is under arrest here today.

Redding, authorities said, began his activities by stealing an automobile at Punxsutawney, which he drove to Indiana where he was stopped by motorcycle patrolman J. Connors.

Catching the officer unawares as he attempted to question the youth about his driver's license, Redding drew a revolver and disarmed the officer, then drove away after throwing the officer's gun into the road according to the authorities story.

A running gun battle followed during which Connors fire three shots, all of which struck the automobile and Redding emptied his revolver at the officer.

Halting near Wilkinsburg to reload his revolver, Redding disabled his own car with an accidental shot which severed the gas line. The car was abandoned and Redding told officers he took a street car into Pittsburgh, where he met Raymond Bates, of Pittsburgh who was arrested with him in an alleged attempt to steal the car belonging to J. E. Higginbottom, of this city.

UNCHANGED

What matters the pride of yesterday,
And whether I lost or won?
I still must journey along the way
And carry life's burden on.
My friends who were are my friends that are,
My cheek still carries the same old scar.
I still need food and I still need mirth,
It's the same old life on the same old earth.

If skill has come as I hoped it would,
And if I have jumped to fame,
The people here in my neighborhood
Are very much the same.
And my need for them and their need for me
Is just as great as it used to be;
For medals and money and things of pride
Don't touch the depths of a man inside.

Oh, yesterday passed with the midnight bell,
To sleep with the countless years;
But to follow the task which I did so well,
Now a similar task appears.
And the same old danger lies in my way,
I must be on guard not to fail today.
It's the same old world and the same old grind
And the same old friends that I wake to find.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt built their little known shooting lodge, comprised only fifteen acres, cut off from Springfield, which, with "Inglewood" and "Plain Dealing", belonged to the late W. Wilmer. His brother, Joseph Wilmer, also an intimate friend of the Chief Executive and his family, owned "Round Top" and the famous "Horse Shoe Farm" in Rapidan.

This country in the Green Mountain neighborhood, once so familiar to the Roosevelts, originally was the great Coles estate. John Coles II, well known turf patron in his day and owner of one of the best stables in Virginia, purchased the property, then known as the Eppes grant, in 1769. He built first a hunting lodge and later a permanent home which he named "Enniscorthy". It was to "Enniscorthy" that Jefferson escaped during Tarleton's raid; and in its halls that many of the statesmen as well as many of the eminent sportsmen of Colonial Virginia once were entertained.

When Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt first came to "Pine Knot", "Enniscorthy", "Woodville", built in 1796 by Walter, the oldest of the Coles sons, "Estoreville", built by another member of the family about 1800, and "Tallwood", build some years previously by still another, were still in the possession of descendants whose forebears had entertained our second and third Presidents, possibly, feeding them upon the ancestors of Mr. Roosevelt's turkeys, both wild and domestic.

LOYALTY.

Loyalty is a beautiful word and it expresses a beautiful idea. The proper demand of loyalty to the shop where you work, to the employer who hires you, the business from which you get your living, is too little understood by many of us. There are men who take salaries from concerns with which they have no sympathy. Worse than that, there are men who take their living from concerns which they refuse to support with good words and which they undermine with criticism.

Disloyalty is a major sin.

An argument is to stay out of it.
A good reputation to to be what you want the people to think you are.

Big customers is to treat little customers as if they were big ones.
Worth while victories is to make a worth while effort.

At a meeting of the school board of Slippery Rock township held at Princeton last night the contract for the building of the four rooms and auditorium and boiler room were let to Porter & Hoover of New Castle and plans are being made for the completion of the other four rooms of the building.

The directors decided that only the part of the building could be let at the present time but that they would advertise at once for the completion of the other four rooms, and in the meantime plans would be completed for the financing of the remainder of the building.

Contract for the plumbing was let to the R. T. Withers Sons company of New Castle and contract for the electric wiring to the Marvin Electric company of New Castle. The contract for the heating will be let at a later date.

The new building which, when completed, is to consist of eight class rooms and a combination auditorium and gymnasium with stage with modern heating and ventilating equipment. The new building is to be located on the road leading to Princeton from the improved New Castle-Butler road and will be on the east side of the road about half way between the cement road and Princeton.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE WIDE-AWAKE NESTLINGS

Then suddenly, just as Peter was about to step upon a ledge, Peter stopped. Maybe he would scare the birds. What if he should frighten them so badly one of them would fall out of the nest! He couldn't come upon them suddenly and in the dark. They might take him for a robber. Then, perhaps, the father and mother would peck out his eyes.

He had better wait a little while until it grew a bit lighter and then ask the Swifts if he might come up.

In the meantime, though, he might as well stay where he was. The birds were still whispering and he could hear what they said. Besides, there was no use in his going back to bed. He might fall asleep and when he awoke again it would be too late. For a moment while Peter waited at the bottom of the chimney there was silence.

The boy wondered if the birds had gone to sleep. Then the whispering began again.

"But mother," twittered Chirpy, "why can't I get up? There are no longer little holes in the sky. Even the yellow ball has sailed out of sight. It is growing lighter. Dawn is coming. I know it is. Soon the bright fire will come out to make us warm."

"Silly little nestling. Haven't I told you those are not holes in the sky at all, but stars, and the yellow ball is called a moon? Try and remember that, dear, for it would be a shame if the son of a Chimney Swift should fly out into the world without knowing the names of all he sees. The other birds might think he had not been taught at home." Mother Swift was fond but firm.

"Well, if little brother is going to keep on talking none of the rest of us can sleep, so we might as well make up our minds to stay awake until daybreak. I do believe he was right, though, mother! There is a streak of light in the sky, after all," another nestling spoke in a sleepy grumbling tone.

"Son is right. Dawn is breaking," Father Swift broke in suddenly. "Come, children, as long as you are awake you may as well take your heads from under your wings and watch the sunrise. You may not have another good chance before you are grown up. See how bright it is growing. That means the sun is rolling up. By and by it will be light enough for your mother and me to go a-hunting."

Peter twisted his head and peered up the chimney. Sure enough, through the opening at the top he could see a patch of pinky gray sky. "What if they fly away before I get up there?" thought he, and called:

"Oh, please don't go a-hunting before I have talked to you, dear Mr. and Mrs. Chimney Swift! Do you mind if I climb up and make you a visit? It is early, I know, but this is the first chance I have had."

Never before had the old chimney known such a stir as arose at the sound of Peter's voice!

Post Office Sells Unclaimed Chicks

Baby Chicks Undelivered Within 72 Hours Are Sold By Postmaster

Postoffice employes are instructed to sell any baby chicks that cannot be delivered within 72 hours after hatching and the proceeds of the sale to be remitted to the shipper of the chicks.

According to the regulations of the postoffice department live day-old baby chicks may be received for delivery by the postoffice officials if they may be delivered within 72 hours after they are hatched but sometimes the addressee refuses to receive the shipment or the chicks cannot be delivered within the limited time.

If it is possible to return the shipment to the sender within the allotted time that is done. Otherwise there is nothing to do but sell the chicks before they suffer or die and the postoffice officials are thus instructed to do.

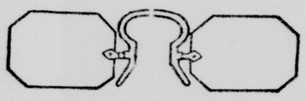

During the present year the local postoffice have not as yet had to sell any chicks but last year two different lots had to be thus disposed of.

Captain Koehl Takes Surprise Flight In Plane

German Flier Slips Away Early This Morning And Enjoys Trip

FLIERS WILL MEET COOLIDGE WEDNESDAY

To Be Guests Of Honor At Banquet In New York This Evening

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 1.—Captain Hermann Koehl, pilot of the trans-Atlantic Monoplane Bremen, slipped out of bed at an unearthly hour this morning, dashed out to the Curtiss flying field and enjoyed himself immensely by making four short flights in the Junkers Monoplane, F-13, sister ship of the Bremen.

The trip was entirely unexpected, and not on the program. The genial captain's companions, Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld and Major James Fitzmaurice, were sleeping soundly at the time, recuperating from the effects of their strenuous day yesterday when 2,000,000 New Yorkers turned out to acclaim them. None of the flyers got to bed until after midnight.

In Air 45 Minutes

Captain Koehl spent a total of forty-five minutes in the air. He said he wanted to get the "feel" of the F-13, which he had never flown before, and also wanted to get at the controls of a plane again. The captain, with the true instinct of a born flyer, did exactly what Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh did after New York acclaimed him—got away by himself in the air.

It was the first time Koehl had taken off and landed on an American flying field while handling the controls. The captain went to the field by automobile, accompanied by A. A. Schroeder, engineer for the Junker company. It was believed that the F-13 may be the plane that will be used by Koehl, Von Huenefeld and Fitzmaurice on their triumphal tour of the United States which starts a week from today.

Meet Coolidge Wednesday

Their present schedule calls for their appearance in Washington tomorrow to receive congratulations of President Coolidge. They will return to New York by train Thursday morning.

Their plans today included a visit to newspaper offices in Park Row. At 11 a. m. while at noon they were to go to the Sub-Treasury building in Wall Street and place a wreath on the Washington statue. Early this afternoon they will call at the office of the British Consul General and tonight they will be the guests of honor at a banquet tendered them by the city at Hotel Commodore.

Today was the genial Baron Von Huenefeld's thirty-sixth birthday and he planned to celebrate it by cutting a large cake with thirty-six candles at his hotel this afternoon.

Police guarded the suite of the flyers this morning to make sure they were not disturbed. They had been out quite late, having taken in a performance of the Greenwich Village Follies last night, and also the Sharkey-Delaney prize fight at Madison Square Garden.

Pittsburgh Rivers Near Flood Stage

Monongahela And Allegheny Rivers Fed By Melting Snow Rise Rapidly

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 1.—Melting snows in the Allegheny and Monongahela river valleys today presented a flood menace as the rising waters, fed by smaller streams, mounted hourly at the juncture of the two here.

A height of 28 feet, three feet above flood stage, was expected by noon today at the juncture of the two rivers. At Confluence, the Allegheny last night reached a stage of 11 feet, and was still rising, while the Cheat river at Rowlesburg was rising at the rate of a foot an hour.

In the Monongahela, West Newton reported the water rising at the rate of three-tenths of a foot an hour.

Mr. Irvine states that 280 students, representing seven different musical organizations of the schools of the city will make the trip to the college town where they will compete for honors with other schools of the northwestern part of the state.

Boy Is Struck By Auto; Escapes Serious Injury

A small boy was struck and knocked down by the automobile driven by John C. Travers, 1242 West State street, Monday in front of the Lincoln and Garfield school on Long avenue.

The boy was crossing from the north side to the south side of Long avenue, when the Travers machine hit and knocked him to the pavement, the right front fender striking the boy.

The boy had hardly struck the ground, according to the report made to the police, when he got up and ran away before Mr. Travers was able to get his name. He was apparently not seriously injured.

Mr. Travers was driving the car of the Travers Tire company at the time and going east on Long avenue.

Flood Danger To Pittsburgh Now Believed Passed

Weather Bureau Says Reports From Up-State Streams Indicate No Great Rises

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 1.—With the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers standing at 23½ feet and rising slowly at the Juncture here, weather authorities believed the danger of a flood menace to have passed, shortly before noon today.

A rise of slightly more than a foot was believed in prospect, which, while it will bring the rivers to the flood stage of 25 feet, will not endanger property.

Poor communication caused by the recent storm is hindering the weather bureau in efforts to check up on conditions farther upstream, attaches said, but meagre reports indicate that at no points has the flood reached the heights indicated by rapidly rising streams late yesterday.

Waukegan Home Is Damaged By Blast

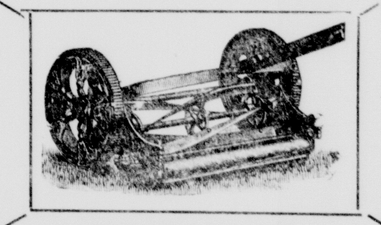

CHICAGO, May 1.—Members of two families were perilled today when a powerful bomb was exploded at the front of a two-flat building in Waukegan, a suburb.

Two children of George Doyle, first floor tenant, were showered with plaster and glass in their beds. The Doyles and members of the family of Henry MacAmanse, living on the second floor, were hurled from their beds by the force of the blast.

Doyle and MacAmanse, railroad workers, told Police Chief Thomas Kennedy they knew of no reason for the blast.

HE ISN'T CONSTIPATED ANY MORE

Thanks to Kellogg's wonderful ALL-BRAN

Mr. Grinslade wrote, of his own accord, to tell us how much he valued ALL-BRAN in relieving constipation.

June 1, 1927

"Just a few words to let the company know what Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has done for me. I was constipated for several years until I went to eating your PEP and ALL-BRAN. I am now rid of constipation and it is all due to the use of your products, and I will recommend it to anyone that is bothered with constipation."

Yours truly,
H. M. GRINSLADE,
1139 Laguna Ave., Los Angeles

Constipation is a dreadful thing. It undermines health. It steals happiness. Throbbing heads, aching backs, spots before the eyes, bad complexions are just a few of its telltale symptoms.

Don't let it get in its deadly work on you. Protect yourself now. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to prevent and relieve constipation. A health cereal — ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. Doctors recommend it. Delicious with milk or cream, or with fruit or honey added. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily —chronic cases, with every meal. Use in cooking. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Normal School Rolls Trebled In 10 Years

Enrollment Of 2500 In 1918 Now Listed At 10,824

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 1.—Enrollment in the State Normal schools has increased three hundred percent in the last decade, the Department of Public Instruction announced today. From an enrollment of 2500 in 1918 the growth has been gradual until 10,824 are now listed. There are sixteen state and city normal schools.

Officials of the department pointed out that during this period there has been three changes which would be reflected in attendance records.

The school code of 1911 gave authority for the purchase by the state of the institutions generally known as State normal schools but which in reality were operated in a large degree by private agencies. Completion of the purchases was made in 1920.

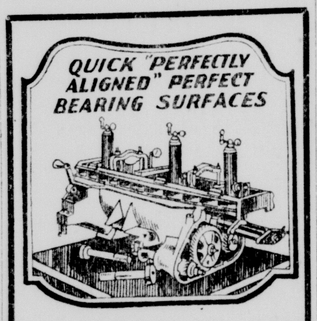

During the period from 1921 to 1924 all normal schools curricula were revised completely and placed on a higher professional level.

Another factor which affected the status of the schools, officials said, was the move made by the State Council of Education in 1926 to convert the normal schools into teachers colleges. The higher the requirements of a school the stronger becomes the tendency to meet them, it was asserted.

Enrollment by years showing the growth of the schools was as follows: 1918, 2500; 1919, 3032; 1920, 3300; 1921, 3815; 1922, 4637; 1923, 5284; 1924, 5902; 1925, 6851; 1926, 8376; 1927, 9031.

Baby Specialist Aiding Mothers

Special Information Being Given By Nurse During Baby Week

What to do for and about babies is something mere man knows little more than nothing about, and from this infinitesimal knowledge subtract one hundred per cent and you have the sum total of what a bachelor reporter knows about.

Which is no reason at all for assigning one of the tribe to interviewing a Baby Specialist Nurse. And being no reason at all he was assigned.

The nurse in question is Miss Mae McGrath, the place is the New Castle Dry Goods company, and the reason for it all is that it is a special Baby Week, with special emphasis upon the care and clothing of babies and pre-natal care for mothers.

On the table presided over by Miss McGrath is a bewildering list of various sizes and shapes of clothing, made of sheer stuff and wooly stuff, no one piece of it being much larger than a Czecho-Slovakian postage stamp, but being highly useful in the proper place no doubt.

Scales and baskets, and gadgets and sundry designs. And ever and anon young mothers bring their young hopefuls up to Miss McGrath for information.

Miss McGrath seems to get a lot of pleasure out of it. The reporter got none at all. Meetings, prize fights, football games or murder trials are a part of the game, but babies, that's something else again.

The Baby Week program, with Miss McGrath will last all week. Mothers are invited to visit Miss McGrath on the second floor of the New Castle Dry company and utilize the services of this young lady who has been trained in her subject.

Entertainment At East Brook School

Operetta, Dance, One-Act Comedy And May Pole Dance On Program

East Brook grade school concludes its school term with an entertainment to be given at the school auditorium on Thursday evening, May 3, which promises to be the best ever given in this school.

The program opens with an operetta "Under the Sugar Plum Tree", taken from poems by Engene Fields and James Whitcomb Riley. The seventy-four children of the first four grades will participate in this quaint little production.

The girls of the fifth and sixth grades are giving a dance entitled, "The Sailor's Hornpipe." These jolly sailors mean to have their part of the program successful.

With no less zeal of seventh and eighth grades are showing their dramatic ability in the production of a one-act comedy "Mother's Day Off and Father's Day On."

As a beautiful conclusion to the program the giris of the upper grades are giving a Maypole dance, appropriate to the season of the year and a fitting close to the school year.

If you see a large hairy he-man sputtering on the street, he's just seen some masculine silk unions in a store window.

Authorities Favor Azores Atlantic Hops

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Full of admiration as they are, for the Huenefeld-Koehl-Fitzmaurice ocean flyers' skill and courage, naval airmen nevertheless aren't converted.

They still think the Newfoundland route a near-suicidal way for an aviator to attempt a transatlantic crossing, especially to the westward.

For a flyer who wants to try his hand at a miracle, they don't find any fault with it.

If he wants to get from America to Europe, or more particularly from Europe to America, they stand pat for the Azores as the only practicable jumping-place this side of the equator.

At all events, that's the verdict of all the sea flyers I happen to know personally.

Their theory of inter-continental aerial operations always has seemed to me essentially different from that of aviators whose training has been confined mainly to operations above terra firma.

Hydrographic office experts, in particular, contend that overseas flights generally appear to have been conducted on the mistaken supposition that a plane's in the same class with a powerfully-engined surface steamship, capable of being driven through the waves with little regard for wind direction.

Their view is that a flyer's necessities are more like those of the old-time mariner who, dependent on a breeze to fill his sails, made a point of steering so as to keep it blowing behind him—suiting his course to weather conditions rather than trying to defy them.

The hydrographers' comparison of the voyage either way between New York and Ireland, via Newfoundland, with the Newport News-Lisbon journey, via Fayal, isn't flattering to the former.

On the Southern route flying conditions almost always are ideal; on the northern almost always shocking.

The experts admit the necessity for two hops between Newport News and Lisbon, but think the Bremen has proved that two west-bound hops are equally necessary between Ireland and New York, and probably much safer in the opposite direction.

As for an intermediate stopping place—

On the one hand is Fayal, with a climate which need never delay a plane beyond the time required to refuel.

As against it, the best the north has to offer is some such bleak spot as Greenely Island, where storms may delay a flying party for days at any season, even after every facility has been provided to minimize the dangers of a landing or a take-off.

The north's one advantage, to surface steam shipping, is in the matter of distance.

Navigators see no advantage whatever in this to any vessel, surface or aerial, which cannot disregard the inevitable buffetings of the higher latitudes.

There are competent naval judges who believe systematic transatlantic flying is humanly and mechanically—not commercially—feasible today by way of the Azores. I know of none who consider it possible by the northern route, except as an extra-hazardous stunt, in the present stage of aviation.

Lawrence County Produced 1,131,000 Dozen Eggs In 1927

Near 20 Million Hens In The State Produced 118,456,000 Dozen Eggs

Lawrence County flocks produced 1,131,000 dozen eggs in 1927 compared to 1,082,000 dozen in 1926, according to an estimate made by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The number of chickens on farms in the county on January 1, 1928 was estimated at 189,800 as compared with 182,500 on January 1, 1927.

In the state of Pennsylvania a new high record was set last year with 118,456,000 dozen eggs produced or 4,556,000 dozen more than in 1926. Increase in the number of hens and in the number of eggs laid per hen are responsible for this greater production.

The average price of eggs was the same as in the previous year, but due to the increased output, the total value increased $1,640,000.

WORLD'S TONIC IS WONDERFUL

New Castle Man Amazed at Benefit From Systemic Treatment of Catarrh

"I will frankly say the first bottle of World's Tonic didn't do my catarrh much good, but the way the second bottle has improved me is wonderful," a well-known carpenter of Lutton street told the World's Tonic man. He had just come back to buy his third bottle.

"Nothing ever helped me like World's Tonic, and I believe this treatment is going to relieve my catarrh entirely," he continued. "What World's Tonic has done for me is nothing short of remarkable. I have had catarrh of the head for sixteen years. My breath got so bad I was ashamed to go near anybody. I had a constant ringing in my ears and if I caught the least bit of cold my head stopped up and the sound in my ears was like an engine letting off steam. Dry scabs formed in my nose and caused me such distress that I had to be picking them out constantly. My eyes were effected, burned and became watery and got so weak I couldn't see the figures on my rule and square, without eye glasses.

"World's Tonic has helped every bit of this trouble. My eyes are stronger and do not water or burn, the ringing in my ears is gone, my breath is much better and I feel improved generally. Certainly I advise everybody suffering from catarrh to use World's Tonic because I have never found anything to equal it and I have been taking all kinds of medicines and treatment for sixteen years."

The druggist will explain this treatment to all callers. Sold at Paisley's, McKee's Kut Rate Store, Smith's, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. and all other good druggists. (253)

IMAGINARY ILLS ARE PATHETIC DECLARES STATE HEALTH HEAD

"Six months ago a number of men were discussing health. A mutual friend had died suddenly of heart failure. One of crowd painted a very black picture concerning hearts and their pebuliar habit of falling down on the job in middle life. The result was that the next day all of them went to a physician and were examined. Two were found to be slightly under par but the others were all right," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, today.

"The moral of this story is not so much in the discovery brought forth by the examination, excellent as that is, but in the fact that one of the most impressionable of the men whose heart was given the doctor's O. K., now has a fine case of heart disease in his head! He is suffering from cardiophobia and his perfectly operating heart is laughing at him, but he will not believe it.

"Phobias are all too common. For example, there is the reducing-phobia, the tuberculosis-phobia and the cancer-phobia—to mention a few of the more prominent ones.

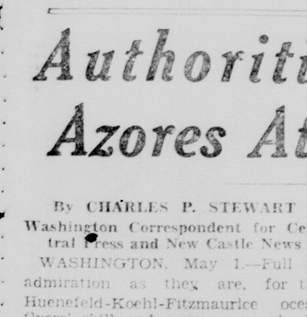

"With a commendable frankness much popular medical literature is finding its way into the daily press and is being consumed by the reading public, also some unethical advertising material which is especially directed to develop one's fears. The average person is as a result more personally interested in his own welfare than he was even a few years ago.

"One is told to take stock of his physical condition annually, to get plenty of fresh air, to eat good food, to sleep sufficient hours each night and not to forget recreation. But that is far from saying that because the more evident symptoms of diseases are placed in simple language (not to mention the elaborations of the vicious medical advertisements) one should become unduly introspective, brood upon imaginary ills and develop into a hypochrondriac.

"Actually there are thousands of people in the United States today who enjoy bad health. They can't eat this, or they can't do that. And how they like to tell their friends all about it!

"Real disease is a misfortune, great or small, according to circumstances, but imaginary ills are pathetic. Nature being what it is, if indulges in a tremendous amount of regulation without any outside interference or thought on the part of the subject himself. Therefore, don't let the fake advertisements or even the actual sick and death rates scare you into a phobia.

"Take natural care, listen to your doctor's advice, eat what agrees with you in reasonable quantities, do the things in moderation which you like to do and, barring an acute illness, forget your doctor until it is time to go to him again for your annual examination. Don't become an introspective fanatic on the subject of health."

British Workers Observe May Day

May Day Observed With General Cessation Of Work Throughout Europe

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 1.—May Day was observed throughout Europe today with parades, demonstrations and a general cessation of work. The observance had taken on a menacing aspect in some places, notably in Vienna and Budapest where the communists threatened trouble.

Workers in all parts of Britain observed the day. There was a parade in London and a mass meeting in Hyde Park where speakers from the labor party lauded socialist-communist ideals.

A strong force of police was on duty to prevent disorders.

Brown And Druschell Win Tennis Matches

Two tennis matches were played off in the Y. W. Indoor tennis tournament Monday evening. Matches began at 7 o'clock and were between, Ruth Brown and Marie Fleckenstien, and Ruth Johnson and Lillian Druschell. The third match scheduled for Monday evening between Leola Johnson and Lilah Allen will be played Saturday at 1 o'clock.

The first match of the evening was exceptionally interesting. Miss Brown has made rapid advances in the game for a beginner, while Miss Fleckenstien spectacularly succeeded in returning some of Miss Brown's well placed balls. Miss Brown's winning the match was probably due to her planing of return balls.

The second match was not as exciting as the first, due to the inexperience of the players. Miss Johnson made a good beginning, with a love game in her favor right at the start, however Miss Druschell came to the fore with better returns, which gave her the match. Score of matches:

First match, first set, 6-2, Brown.
Second set, 6-3, Brown.
Second match, first set, 6-1, Druschell.
Second set, 6-4, Druschell.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELEN E RUBINSTEIN
Noted Beauty Expert

THE STRENGTH OF YOUR EYES. Most of us have an inferior eye. Choose some object to center your attention on and test your own eyes by covering first one and then the other and having discovered which of the two is weaker, set things right by systematizing a routine of training which will normalize your eyesight. Develop the weak eye by making it do its share. Stop doing things that are injurous to yourself, such things as reading in a dim light or a very vivid, glaring one. Never permit a brilliant light to be directed on your eyes. Arrange your work so that the light falls over your shoulder. An indirect light is most advisable a light whose direct rays have been neutralized by a reflector or shade.

The spine is often to blame for eye troubles, via the multitudinous nerves that travel from that main vertabrae.

Many children recover from the measles with afflictions of their eyes sight. Eye strain causes headaches and over strained muscles are frequently at the base of the eye strain

An excellent exercise to correct this is to look to a distance or imagine that you can if circumstances prevent the actual effort. When you look at a small object your muscles and nerves are straining, when you look far away you can almost feel yourself relax.

Smiling, oddly enough is a fine way to aid relaxing eye muscles. Often a color or even the conjuring up of that color in imagination will be very valuable. Dark green is probably the most restful color. Then there is the simple method of relxation which calls for nothing more than shutting the eyes for a a minute or two or covering them with the palm of the hand.

Have you ever heard of a singer increasing his range? Try the same system with your eyes. Get a book, hold it in front of you, see where exactly the print is clearest, most definite. Hold the book away, little by little, then reverse and try bringing it a little nearer and then a little more. By degrees your range of vision will increase.

We all know how to look just to a height then down then far right and far left until you can complete the full circle.

Try to see objects in the dark, then turn on the light, then go back to darkness and see if your observatory powers have strengthened. They won't at first but they will in time. Practice too, looking into great distances.

In the west eye troubles are far less frequent than in the east. The scope of their vision is not only enlarged through the great vistas of space but it is strengthened as well.

Try these exercises for your eye and watch their power develop.

for your spring togs—

The Same Pressing Your Clothes Receive As They Leave the Factory

THE NEW SYSTEM OF MOULDING SHAPE INTO YOUR CLOTHES

It is as different from ordinary pressing as today's eight-cylinder cars are from the original "one lunger".

Eight different pressing moulds are used for the various parts of a suit.

You note the difference instantly.

The collar fits your neck. The shoulders are snug and shapely. The coat conforms to the body lines. The vest is moulded round to fit your body. The trouser legs have a true crease — both front and back. The knees have no bagginess. Edges are pressed thin not puffy.

In short, your suit looks as good —and feels as good to you—as the day your tailor first fitted it.

You don't pay a cent more for this modern, craftsmanlike and definitely superior service. Pressing a suit only costs 50c—cleaning and pressing $1.50. For your spring overcoat we will charge you 75c for pressing—$1.50 for cleaning and pressing.

Two Great Improvements

Make Kotex More Comfortable Than Ever Before

KOTEX scientists have improved Kotex. In 2 important ways. And millions of new users have been won.

Kotex is now infinitely softer than ever before. There is no irritation, no binding or chafing. It is soft as down, and light and cool to wear.

And, by a new process, Kotex is form-fitting. No awkward bulkiness to mar smooth fashionable lines.

These 2 features which are exclusive in Kotex have won the spontaneous approval of women, of doctors and nurses.

Regular Price
Was ~~65¢~~
NOW 45¢
KOTEX

The resulting huge business when we announced these 2 new features have enabled us to reduce the regular price of Kotex greatly. Now it is in reach of all women, in every walk of life.

Kotex' outstanding features of the past are retained. The effective area is the same. Highest absorbency, ease of disposal, absolute deodorizing —these are unchanged.

Kotex is the only sanitary napkin that can be bought at every drug, dry goods, or department store in the country.

Ben Franklin And North Street Are Given Places

Junior High School Orchestras To Compete At Grove City Thursday

The Benjamin Franklin and North street junior high school orchestras have been selected to represent the junior schools of New Castle at the northwestern Pennsylvania interschool musical contest at Grove City next Thursday, it was made known today by LaVerne E. Irvine, head of music in the high schools of the city.

Adjudicators were present at the public school musical exhibition and concert held last Friday and chose the two orchestras mentioned above to compete against other junior high school organizations of this class at the coming event.

The adjudicators also praised the work of the Mahoning school orchestra highly. Mr. Irvine states that this group worked under the handicap of having a much smaller enrollment and spending much less time on their orchestra work in school periods.

The adjudicators were Mrs. Fred Emery, Terry W. Carson and Ernest McCreery.

Street Car Route On Cedar Street Has Been Repaved

Almost the entire length of Cedar street has been repaved between the street car tracks and a foot on each side of the rails by the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company which proposes to resume street car service in place of auto bus service effective May 6.

It was proposed by the city last year to resurface Cedar street but the plan evidently has been abandoned.

The street car company however has proceeded with their work and new rails have been placed in place of the old line.

Mill Man Used Celebrated Ten Herbs With Wonderful Results

"Although I am 60 years of age, I feel like a man of 20, and I give Ten Herbs all the credit for the great change in me," was the statement of Mr. James McClelland, 44 Greenleaf street, Pittsburgh, Penna., to the

MR. JAMES McCLELLAND

Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington St., New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this popular medicine.

"Before using Ten Herbs I suffered with my stomach, liver and kidneys for some time," continued Mr. McClelland, who is a mill man. "My stomach was badly disordered. I was troubled with gas and bloating after eating. I would have heartburn so badly at night that I could not sleep, and I never had much appetite. My kidneys seemed to be in a very bad condition. I was not able to sit up at times, and at other times I could not lie down. Ten Herbs gave me such wonderful relief that I am pleased to recommend it to all who are suffering as I was."

The demand for Ten Herbs in this city is increasing by leaps and bounds. It probably is the most widely discussed medicine ever introduced here. Men and women of all stations in life are daily telling the Ten Herbs Man of the amazing benefits they have been given. Many claim this great herbal medicine relieved them of stomach, liver or bowel trouble after they had given up hope of ever being well, having tried medicine after medicine without feeling the slightest change for the better in their condition.

Ten Herbs is Nature's own medicine—free from minerals, opiates and any harmful ingredients. It not only tones up the stomach, kidneys and liver, but regulates the bowels and gives the entire system a thorough cleansing, usually making one feel better in every way. Ten Herbs builds strength, adds weight, increases energy, relieves aches and pains, and restores appetite and sleep. It has helped others and why not you?

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

WHY MARTIN'S 100% PURE VARNISH CONTAINS PURE VEGETABLE OILS

Those who want a varnish that is able to stand the test of time and constant hard use should clearly understand the particular value of pure vegetable oils. Linseed oil is a vegetable oil that is crushed from Flax Seed, grown mainly in North America and the Argentine. This oil, which produces a film of exceptional elasticity, readily combines with Chinese wood oil and fossil gum and makes a quality of varnish possible that can be had with no other compound. Chinese wood oil (Tung Oil) is a wonderful water resisting material—the best known for varnish.

Only pure materials are used in the the manufacture of Martin's 100% Pure Varnish. No benzine—no rosin. That's why the manufacturers frankly print the formula of purity on every can. And that's why Martin's will last longer on your floors, woodwork, furniture, etc. Insist on Martin's 100% Pure Varnish and know what you are buying.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Are children never satisfied with their parents?

I was talking to the daughter of a man distinguished as editor and writer. He has been the subject of many high honors and is a favorite with distinguished men and women here and abroad. His writings reflect his admiration for the achievements of his children who also have attained a measure of fame. I do not believe he ever mistreated them or that he deserves to be spoken of in the deprecating way in which his daughter mentioned him:

"Papa talks too much. He bores me. I don't see how people stand him."

One frequently sees the term "prominent clubman" appended to this man or that who isn't notable for anything else and the question comes to my mind, haw many clubs does a man have to be a member of in order to be a "prominent clubman?"

What do you want to know about New York? Address C. K., News Bureau, 2200 Times building, New York, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Harry Payne Whitney, Clarence H. Mackey and Cornelius Vanderbilt for instance belong to 16 New York clubs. J. P. Morgan is a member of 14; Vincent Astor, 10; Marshall Field, 12; James W. Gerard, 13; Robert W. Goelet 11.

Only the "exclusive" clubs are considered. Possibly some of the gentlemen also belong to night clubs.

New York's oldest employment agency is on a corner of Park Row near the entrance to Brooklyn bridge. The business is conducted in the open air between 4 and 5 in the afternoon. There every day a hundred or more men report with bags containing a waiters uniform. The manager is known to caterers who arrange buffet suppers, stag dinners and such parties and supplies their needs for extra help in return for a small fee from the men he places. Some of them have other jobs and work as special waiters in off hours. But most are beaten-looking men unable to hold regular jobs. They get two or three nights' work and their only food in this manner. Usually tips are their only pay.

Egyptians Agree To Withdrawal Of Assemblies Bill

Solution To Egyptian Crisis Is Now Believed In Sight

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 1.—A solution of the Egyptian crisis seemed in sight today as a result of the decision of the Egyptian parliament to withdraw the public assemblies bill.

It was the introduction of this measure that led the British foreign office to send an ultimatum to Cairo demanding its withdrawal on the ground it would jeopardize peace and menace foreign lives and interests.

Both the chamber and the senate of the Egyptian national legislature decided to shelve the bill for the present session. As parliament will not meet again until November the interim will give opportunity for exchanges between London and Cairo to reach a permenent settlement.

The Egyptian government is sending a note in reply to the British ultimatum. It is understood that it will dispute Britian's right to interfere with Egyptian domestic legislation.

A British squadron was on the way to Egyptian waters when the Cairo government backed down. Preparations were being made at Malta to send additional warships.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT.

When you are roasting your meat in the oven, try cooking the vegetables in the oven too. It takes longer than when the cooking is done on top of the stove, but that makes little difference as long as the oven is heated for the roast. This is one of the small economics that makes the gas or other fuel bill lighter at the end of the month.

Roast Beef Browned Potatoes
Creamed Onion Tops Lettuce
Rhubarb Tarts Coffee.

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Creamed Onion Tops. — Three bunches of young onions, two cups white sauce. Cut the onion tops into one-inch pieces. Cook in plenty of boiling salted water about ten minutes until tender. Add to the white sauce and serve at once.

Rhubarb Tarts—Two cups strained rhubarb, one cup sugar, two teaspoons grated orange rind, one tablespoon butter, pastry, one tablespoon cornstarch, two eggs, one-fourth cup powdered sugar. To rhubarb add the sugar, the orange rind, the butter and cornstarch mixed with cold water. Stir over hot water until it thickens and stir slowly into the beaten egg yolks. Line patty pans with pastry and fill with mixture. Bake in hot oven (500 degrees F.) ten minutes. Beat egg whites, add sugar and pile on top of tarts. Bake in a slow oven ten minutes more.

SUGGESTIONS.
Dressing Up Kitchen.

The following is an account of one housewife's success in "dressing up" her kitchen. Her description of how she did it may give some other ambitious lady an idea or two.

"To give the necessary touches of blue to my kitchen I pasted blue oilcloth on the sink drain boards, lined the table drawer where I keep the everyday silver, covered the shelf on which I keep my kettles and pans, which can easily be washed; then I cut a scalloped edge on a piece to hang over the shelf above the sink. With a quaint Dutch china clock above the shelf a blue box of soap chips, blue dots in the ruffled curtains and blue and while linoleum, I think my kitchen is the cheeriest room in the house."

Music Program At Oak Street

Pupils Present Special Program At East Side School

NATURE STUDY GROUP ALSO SHARES PROGRAM

Demonstrating what can be done in the way of chorus singing in the grade schools, the pupils of Oak Street school presented a program this morning that would have been a credit to students several years advanced. Solos, duets and three part chorus singing all had their place in the program under the direction of Miss Grace Aiken and all of it was more than ordinarily well done.

Oak Street is proud of its public school music and after such a program as that of this morning they can be justly proud. The Supervisor of Public School Music, T. W. Johns was present and at the close expressed himself as being delighted with the quality of the work done.

Other Activities

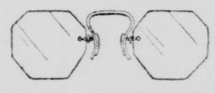

The program this morning was a part of the auditorium work which has been installed in grade schools, and while Oak Street is hampered by lack of auditorium space, yet the hall way on the first floor was made to serve most acceptably. True many of the youngsters had to sit on the stairway and the chorus had chairs in the hallway, but it may be that these handicaps have acted as a spur to teachers and pupils.

Another activity which is being developed in Oak Street is the Nature Study group under Miss Mary Martin. While the exhibit is not as large as it will be, the subjects have been selected with care.

The library is just beginning to make a showing but under the direction of Miss Sudwick, this also is showing gradual improvement.

The program of this morning follows:

Chorus, "Prayer."
Duet—"God Shall Charge His Angel Legions", Nellie Brown and Virginia Gilroy.
Song—"O Happy Snow" and "Like the Lark." Grade 6-A.
Solo—"Serenade" Reed McCaskey.
Chorus—"Wake, This Morning."
Song—"Massa's In de Cold Cold Ground." "Dreamy Alabama."
Duet—"Evening Song".
"Hawiian Bluebird", Marian Sweet and Reed McCaskey.
"The May Song."
"The Italian Garden."
Song— "The Wise Professor."
Song—"All Through The Night."
"Twilight Music."
Chorus—"Song of Praise."

Believe Fear, Cause Behind Suicide Of Butler County Man

County Coroner Says Neurosis Likely Caused Deputy To Commit Rash Act

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., May 1.—Neurosis, which took the peculiar form of fear of automobile wrecks, was believed today by County Coroner W. F. Pohl to have unbalanced the mind of Deputy Coroner Carl K. Key, 24, who killed himself by firing a bullet from a revolver into his right temple shortly after he escaped with only a slight cut on the leg from a wreck which demolished Key's machine late yesterday near Kittanning.

Dusen Terbovitch, 26, riding with Key, today was reported recovering in a Kittanning hospital from body bruises and shock. Key's machine careened into a culvert after crashing into an auto driven by R. H. Painter of Walkchalk, near here. Painter was uninjured.

Key had been injured in two other automobile accidents within the past two years, receiving a fractured skull in one wreck, and since then had expressed his fear of another crash.

The young deputy coroner was said to have been engaged to be married to a student nurse in Butler hospital upon her graduation in June.

NEW YORK, May 1.—May Day, holiday of socialists throughout the world found every one of New York's 17,500 police on duty as 250,000 workers celebrated.

Mayor Walker's home was under guard. So were the homes of the judiciary and outstanding capitalists, as well as public buildings and churches.

Police Commissioner Warren tabooed parades and passing out inflammatory pamphlets.

Eleven May Day meetings were scheduled for afternoon and evening. Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, was to address five of them.

Designating May 1 as Army Day, Governor Smith requested patriotic observances in all public schools.

In a letter to Police Commissioner Warren, August Gerber, secretary of the Socialist Action Committee, demanded rescinding of orders mobilizing the entire police force. Gerber denounced the preparations as "an insult to the intelligence of 250,000 workers, a reflection on their intelligence."

Local Musicians Join Big Orchestra

George V. Sillman, drummer, of 415 Spruce street, and Fred Brewster of Franklin avenue, trombone and piano player, left this city Sunday morning to join E. Nichols and his orchestra of New York city which organization was playing at Pittsburgh.

The orchestra will travel the eastern states this summer and then go west and south for the winter.

The former has had his own orchestra here in this city for a period of three years and has played in the leading dance halls of this district.

Friends of these young men are interested in their remaining active along these lines and also hope to see more New Castle talent in the big orchestras of the country.

"The Orient for the Orientals" is the only known slogan that exactly suits both sides.

ANYONE who wishes to travel will find many advantages in a custodian account.

Colored Ministers Condemn Address Of Clarence Darrow

Indignant over what they term an attack upon their church the colored ministers of New Castle on Monday adopted a set of resolutions condemning the address of Attorney Clarence Darrow in Washington, D. C.

The following has been received by the News from the Ministerial Alliance, colored:

"The Ministerial Alliance, colored, at its regular bi-weekly meeting at the Y. W. C. A., Elm street, yesterday adopted resolutions condemning the attitude of Clarence Darrow, famous attorney of Chicago in a recent lecture delivered in Washington. Mr. Darrow viciously assailed the negro church, as hoodwinking and keeping the negro in the dark.

"The ministers expressed themselves as being thankful and appreciative of Mr. Darrow's efforts to secure or make possible the rights and privileges of citizenship to our group throughout the length and breadth of this country, but that we cannot afford to forget the God of our Fathers, who brought us out of the house of bondage just a few days ago for the flimsy sop of Atheism as offered by Mr. Darrow."

Rev. C. D. Henderson, president; Rev. A. C. Bell, secretary; Rev. Wm. Hodge, chairman of committee.

CLAIMS BALANCE ON ADVERTISING CONTRACT WHICH WAS CANCELLED

Max Ludwig company has filed a suit against the Frew company to collect $2,934 on an advertising bill. Ludwig claims that he entered into a written contract with the Frew company in January, 1928, for billboard advertising on the Harlansburg, Butler, Ellwood, Wampum, New Wilmington and Youngstown roads for $4,104. On March 28 it is claimed that an order was received to cancel the contract. Ludwig claims that the contract would have cost him $1,170 and that the Frew company should pay him the difference between that and the contract price or $2,934.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

Discovery Of Gold In The Black Hills

UNDER THE TERMS OF THE TREATY OF 1868, THE SIOUX INDIANS AGREED TO LIVE ON A RESERVATION IN THE WESTERN PART OF SOUTH DAKOTA. THEY WERE GRANTED THE RIGHT TO HUNT IN THE MOUNTAINOUS COUNTRY TO THE WEST OF THE RESERVATION, AND WERE ASSURED THAT WHITE MEN WOULD NOT BE ALLOWED TO TRESPASS ON THIS HUNTING GROUND.

SIX YEARS LATER, GEN. CUSTER LED AN EXPLORING EXPEDITION INTO THIS REGION. THE EXPLORERS FOUND GOLD IN THE BLACK HILLS, AND THE REPORT OF THE DISCOVERY ATTRACTED NUMBERS OF PROSPECTORS AND ADVENTURERS.

THE INDIANS RESENTED THIS VIOLATION OF THE TREATY, AND VOICED THEIR PROTESTS IN A CONFERENCE HELD AT THE RED CLOUD INDIAN AGENCY. THE SOLDIERS PROMISED TO REMOVE THE INTRUDERS, AND WARNED ALL THE FORTUNE HUNTERS TO GET OUT.

HOWEVER, THE GOLD IN THE BLACK HILLS STILL BECKONED TO THE MINERS, AND IT WAS NOT LONG BEFORE THEY CAME DRIFTING BACK INTO THE MOUNTAINS ON VARIOUS PRETEXTS. THE INDIANS WERE SULLEN AND HOSTILE, AND REPORTS OF FREQUENT MURDERS OF WHITE MEN CAME FROM THE BLACK HILLS LIKE LOW MUTTERINGS OF THE GATHERING STORM.

TOMORROW—BEGINNING OF THE SIOUX WAR.

Sharkey Kayoes Delaney In First Round

One Minute Is Limit Of Bout

Boston Slugger Crumples Delaney With Hard Right In Quick Session

SHARKEY NOW LOOMS REAL CONTENDER

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Tex Rickard, the well-known cauliflower culturist, found himself this morning, which is one of the things he can guarantee to do almost daily, with exactly one more peach in his garden of Madison Square than the sowing of seeds for the heavyweight harvest could account for. It all came of the mistaken idea that he was planting a couple of lemons last night, whereas only one of them ran true to catalogue. The other bloomed not in the sour hue of the lemon, but in the rich, full tints of a fruit inalienably associated with all that is good; a peach, no less.

In exactly one minute and 13 seconds of play Jack Sharkey knocked Jack Delaney right out last night while a crowded house went berserk. Always a contrary cuss, he picked a most unfortunate moment for this exhibition of mastery.

For be it known by all these presents that Tomato Heeney, the prominent human being, already has been declared in on that championship divided with Tunney in July, and here we have this Sharkey guy doing in less than a round what Heeney failed to do in 15. Tomato, in fact, didn't even have Delaney on the floor or near it. Unless you count the soles of his feet. Sharkey not only had him there three times in the first minute, but kept him there the last time down.

Had Sharkey been an obliging sort he would have turned in the performance two months ago and then all of Professor Rickard's plans would have gone through strictly according to script, but he wouldn't or couldn't, or at least didn't, so the professor got very smart and named Heeney as the challenger before further exposes could alter the situation. Upon which the professor found no further reason for being smart and went right ahead matching Sharkey and Delaney just for the sake of filling an open date and the till in the box office.

Sharkey Best Card

The result today was that, with Heeney and Tunney definitely matched for July 26 at the Yankee Stadium, Sharkey was a far better card than the man who in advance had been declared in on the championship killing. He was a superior attraction for several reasons, the main one being that he scored three knockdowns in one minute last night, which was exactly three more than had been tallied in 52 rounds of previous activity in the heavyweight racket. The knockdown and the knockout constitute about the only developments that will send the boys away from there gibbering in maudlin glee about great fights, great fighters and the like. They were doing that last night while the recumbent Delaney was being escorted up the aisle, feet first, probably the only portions of his anatomy at his disposal.

Delaney proved to be the grasping miser of pugilism. He took everything and gave nothing. He may have struck a blow during the minute and 13 seconds of action, but I doubt if he did so in anger. The other guy, by comparison, was more like the Sharkey of the early rounds of the Dempsey fight than the ring mountebank who clowned through the winter season. He went after Delaney from the bell, throwing right hands with abandon. The so-called rapier had just assumed an expression which meant to imply, "You can't scare me with those kinds," when one of them clipped him behind the ear. At that, it didn't scare him; it almost killed him. Just to show he wasn't hurt, he disdained a count and came right up for more. He got it.

Sharkey Swings Fast

Sharkey rushed to the attack again, swinging lefts and rights to Delaney's head without a return. Steadying for a moment, he set himself for a right cross. It nipped Delaney's jaw and would have been enough for a knockdown, but the sailor added a left hook by way of emphasis and for good measure as the Bridgeport entry was en route to the floor. Not only wisely, but necessarily, he took a count of nine this time and came up reeling, incidentally, he didn't even reel in the best of form.

He, in fact, reeled directly into a right uppercut and it was all over.

The boys like a finish like that. They also like the fighter who makes it possible. Sharkey's name is up in the lights again today, and indications are that it will stay there. And the inevitable comparison is on between the records of Sharkey and Heeney, to the latter's regret. Didn't Sharkey stop the man who went 15 rounds with Heeney? Yes. Didn't Sharkey and Heeney fight a draw, and wasn't Heeney generally considered to have received better than a down-the-center break on the decision? Yes, again. In fact, yes, yes. Well, then?

Meantime a young man by the name of Johnny Risko was introduced from the ring last night. He was the man who beat Sharkey out of a decision only six weeks ago. So what does that make him? Really, Willmerding, you ask the darndest questions.

These Boys Can Hit — By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Among the leading apple-knockers, or onion-thumpers, of the American league at this writing are three gentlemen who may be classified as an ancient veteran, a youthful veteran and an unknown recruit. They are, respectively: Ken Williams, 35-year-old outfielder of the Red Sox, who formerly played with the Browns for nine straight years, and in 1915 and '16 for Cincinnati; Goose Goslin, 26-year-old outfielder of the Senators, who is now in his eighth season with Washington; and Paul Easterling, rookie outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, an unknown busher who has relegated the famous Bob Fothergill to a position on the bench.

All three of these enterprising gentlemen are hovering around the top of the American league batting averages and Easterling had the honor of leading them all with a mark of .625 when the first percentages for individual batting were published in the Sunday papers. Not only in batting averages were these three among the leaders, but on Tuesday last, they all stood tied as the home run leaders of the Ban John—pardon me—the E. S. Barnard circuit.

Let's take a look at Paul Easterling, as he is the newcomer among the three. Like Chalmer Cissell, expensive White Sox rookie, Easterling learned his baseball in the uniform of Uncle Sam. Seattle took Paul in 1926 and farmed him to Bloomington last year, where he batted .342 and made 159 hits. So Moriarty traded Ruble to Seattle for the plump outfielder, and the 1928 season was scarcely a week old when he had become the most talked-of player in the league. In hitting his second of three home run in three successive days, Easterling walloped a ball clear over the center field bleachers in St. Louis, yards beyond Babe Ruth's famous drive in the 1926 world series. He bats and throws right handed.

Italians Book Few Exhibition Games

Advisory Board Headed By C. L. Ross Will Handle Business End Of Game

The Italian A. C. of the National section of the Lawrence County Twilight League, has booked several exhibition games prior to the start of the league season.

On Friday, May 4, the Iatlians will clash with the strong Mahoning team of the Twilight League. The game will be played on the Mahoningtown grounds. Monday, May 7, the Italians will play South Hills at the South Hills field. On May 10th, the Lawrence Indies will be met at the Cedar street grounds. The games will be called at 6 o'clock. All of the exhibition games are with teams in the American section of the Twilight League, and they will afford a comparison of the relative strength of the two loops.

Recently a meeting of the team was held at the home of C. L. Ross and an Advisory Board elected for the season. The Advisory Board will handle the business end of the team. C. L. Ross is chairman of the board. Tony Sacco is secretary and treasurer and Tony C. Richards is business manager. Judging from the spirit of cooperation shown, the success of the Italian A. C. is almost assured.

The team will practice on Wednesday night at Centennial Field at 5:30 o'clock, said Clem Genral, manager of the team today. All players are asked to be present. For games with the Italian A. C. get in touch with Business Manager T. C. Richards at 1102 Agnew street or call phone 2383.

NOTICE

Baseball scores and notices turned into the Sport Department of The News must be in the office the night the game is played, or in an emergency not later than 9 o'clock the next morning, and must be written plainly, and be complete. All articles must be signed and include the address and telephone number of the sender.

Hillsville To Have Fast Baseball Team

According to reports from Hillsville the Lawrence County Twilight League team of that town is going to be in the thick of the pennant fight this season.

Manager Jonah Byers is awaiting favorable weather to put the team through some stiff practices. Most of the players of last year have signed contracts for this season and several new men have been added to the roster.

Recently a meeting was held and the following officers elected to serve for the year: Jonah Byers, manager; Charles Grist, assistant manager and captain; James Colucci, treasurer; Albert Marshall, secretary; and Nick Navarra, business manager.

Plans are under way at Hillsville for the annual spaghetti supper and dance to be held by the team on May 16. The proceeds will go to help finance the team this season.

Sharkey Willing To Meet Dempsey

Boston Slugger Wants Another Chance At Ex-Champion, Says Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 1.—Emboldened by his master stroke in knocking Jack Delaney out of the heavyweight picture in exactly one minute and 13 seconds, Jack Sharkey today issued a challenge to Jack Dempsey for a return match and labeled the impending title match between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney as an exhibition between "two second raters." He feels he has regained his old place and intends to keep on fighting until he gets his chance at the title.

Sharkey is sure that Dempsey is coming back for at least one more fight and he wants to get even with the man he calls the "Old Tiger" who clawed him to pieces in seven rounds last June.

Eastern Teams Plan Invasion

Eastern Teams In National League Prepare For Swing Through Mid-West

CINCINNATI REDS DOING VERY NICELY

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 1—The month bids fair to be a merry one for the western teams in the National league. They will stop the business of battling each other to a standstill at the end of this week when the eastern clubs go west. Brooklyn and New York will find the going tougher and the chances are that at least two of the western outfits will force to the front.

Considering the fact that Pete Donohue hasn't started yet and that Jackie May and Ethen Allen have just retutned to duty, the weak-hitting Cincinnati Reds have been doing surprisingly well. They beat St. Louis yesterday, 6 to 4, when the Cardinals made six errors, and took third place away from the Red Birds.

Chick Hafey, St. Louis outfielder, crashed into a concrete wall while chasing a fly and suffered a slight concussion of the brain.

Burleigh Grimes was kayoed but the Pirates made sixteen hits and nosed out the Cubs, 8 to 7. Sparky Adams drove in three runs which helped beat his former mates.

Robins Swamped

Brooklyn's high flying Robins ran into a blizzard of New York hits and were slaughtered by a 14 to 4 score. McGraw's sluggers scored eleven runs in two consecutive innings. The Giants can regain the league lead by trimming the Robins again today.

Rogers Hornsby's Boston team, which is on a terrific batting spree, made nineteen hits, including four home runs, and walloped the Phillies by a 13 to 6 count. Eddie Moore got four hits.

Geneva Track Team Needs Conditioning

Coach McMillin Realizes That Track Team Is Not In Best Of Condition

Geneva's track team did about as well as Coach McMillin expected in the dual with West Virginia. The men were plainly far behind the Mountaineers in condition and their score suffered in proportion. Considering the weather some very creditable performances were turned in. The Reeves Field hammer, and high-jump records went by the board, and the half mile record was equaled in the best race of the afternoon. One fact was evident that Geneva has no sprinter worthy of the name. Fine strength was displayed by the Covenanters in the hurdles despite the fact that Ewing, Lloyd and Lathom were all suffering with leg injuries. Cullen made a fine mark in the shot and Friedman in the javelin against a stiff wind. Better work was expected of the distance runners and Lockley, Piper and Cushnie will have to improve if the Conference crown is to rest at Geneva another year. Geneva's high jumpers were very poor and the Covenanters were lucky to obtain second place.

However, with warm weather in prospect Coach McMillin has his boys preparing for Carnegie Tech who will be met at Reeves Field next Saturday. Geneva should capture this dual but not by the large margin that has characterized Geneva victories the past two years. However, the Covenanters have their minds set on a series of wins that will culminate in a Conference Championship on Decoration Day.

The annual Beaver County Interscholastic Meet will be held at Reeves Stadium, Saturday, May 19th.

Sport Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

A tea was given for Gene Tunney the other day. Other guests were visiting editors who had come to see the sights of New York. This was one of them.

Jack Dempsey was invited, but couldn't attend. Maybe he doesn't like Gene because twice right after he shook hands with Tunney the champ hit him on the nose.

Tunney wore a spring ensemble of a broad smile and a college conversation trimmed with big words. He looked in great shape and fit to go 10 fast rounds with any encyclopedia.

Johnny Risko was one of the guests. His tea cup technique was little short of astounding. There was a faint murmur of applause when Johnny took a big gulp and his tie came through the ordeal still dry.

* * *

Tom Heeney was not present. This was sad because Tom is a Britisher and probably could have given an educational exhibition of tea guzzling and wafer work.

* * *

Heeney doesn't believe in tea, preferring ale with a beard on it. Heeney doesn't think tea is good for sports because a fellow Britisher, Sir Tom Lipton by name, not only drinks but produces it, too. And Sir Tom hasn't won a boat race in 50 years.

SORDS POINTS—By Jack Sords

Frank Lockhart, Latest Knight Of The "Roaring Road" To Lay Down Life As Sacrifice To Great God Speed

When Frank Lockhart's flying Black Hawk special lurched on the sands of Daytona Beach, Fla., spun into the air and hurled the driver to his death, another racing name was placed on the dark side of a great sports' honor roll.

Lockhart died as one of the greatest race drivers of all time. His name still adorns the record books in profusion. It was in the attempt to add one more record, that of the world's fastest mile, to his name that he met his death.

Lockhart still held 13 records, eight of which he set at Salem, N. C., and five at Cleveland, O., all of them in 1927. At Cleveland, Sept. 25, Lockhart set new records for circular dirt tracks at 5, 25, 50, 70 and 100 miles. On Oct. 14 he made new speedway records, regardless of class, at Salem, at one-quarter mile, one-half mile, mile, two, three, four, five and ten miles.

Thirteen records! Perhaps they were prophetic. He was to die attempting the 14th.

Lockhart sprang into the front rank of racing over night. He came to Indianapolis in 1926 unknown, and as a spectator at the 500-mile classic in the big Hoosier saucer.

Someone who had seen him race on the Pacific coast recognized the friendless 23-year-old boy wandering about outside the speedway grounds and found a badge for him. This gave Frank entrance into the speedway.

One driver was unable to compete and Lockhart took his mount. The boy was a sensation. He drove the vast crowd wild with his reckless driving and won the race. Referee Arthur Brisbane stopped the race at 400 miles with Lockhart far in the lead.

The racing world rang with Lockhart's name. He had beaten the greatest drivers in the world in the greatest race of the year. After that he ranked with Ralph DePalma, Jules Goux, Peter De Paolo, Tommy Milton, I. P. Fettermann, Cliff Durant, Bennett Hill, Jerry Wonderlich, Norman Batten, Leon Duray, L. L. Corum and others.

Lockhart's canny skill and his utter lack of fear made him an invaluable man to the business of testing automobiles to which he lent himself. He seemed to be unconscious of danger in all the fearful uproar of the speedways, with his car rocketing along at a frightful speed over tracks drenched in oil.

In one race at Indianapolis foreign drivers were astounded at his reckless speed. European drivers are coached to slow down around the curves, but Frank Lockhart liked to hit 'em full tilt. It meant a gain and gains meant victory won in the most thrilling sport of all.

Lockhart is the last of the great speedway kings to die in harness. Bob Burman, whose records still stand on the books, was one of the first.

After Burman came Arthur Thurman, Gaston Chevrolet, Roscoe Sarles, who was known as the "clown of the races," but a marvelous driver at that; Joe Boyer, Dario Resta and others.

Here And There In Sports' Land

By ED. FRITZ

Chick Hafey, right fielder of the Cardinals, was knocked out when he collided with the right field wall at St. Louis yesterday in an effort to capture a fly by Critz of Cincinnati. Hafey was carried from the field and taken to a hospitall suffering from a slight concussion of the brain. This is the second time Hafey has suffered an injury in the last few years. In 1926 he collided with Taylor Douthitt in chasing Dugan's fly and was knocked unconscious.

It took only one minute and 13 seconds last night for Jack Sharkey to knock out Jack Delaney at New York. Delaney did not put a glove on the loquacious Lithuanian. Overhand rights to the head finished the boy from Bridgeport. Delaney never really got out of his corner and after finishing Delaney Sharkey grasped the ropes and cried hysterically.

According to announcement of Carm Sacco the New Castle ball club will not only feature in baseball but also boxing. The first bout is scheduled for May 28. Bill Jolly who held forth at the Armory said yesterday a force of workmen would start erecting an arena in the First ward near South and Beaver streets within a few days and the first battle would be staged about May 15.

Irving Wiedrick ex-president of the Rochester baseball club of the International league has been taken to Auburn prison to begin a sentence of from three to six years for grand larceny. He was found guilty of converting to his own use $100,000 worth of stock belonging to Mrs. Agnes Miles wealthy Rochester, N. Y. widow.

LOU GEHRIG

Henry Louis Gehrig, Yankee first baseman, was born in New York City, June 19, 1903.

Gehrig was educated in his home city and it was while attending Columbia university and playing on that school's nine that his sensational playing attracted the eyes of the Yankee management.

Gehrig joined the Yanks in 1923 and in 13 games hit for .423. He was farmed to Hartford the same year but recalled. Again in 1924 he was optioned to the Connecticut team but recalled once more and this time he stuck with the American league club.

In 1927 he became a sensation. Batting at a .373 clip he hit 47 homers and for a great part of the season acted as pace maker for the home run king, Babe Ruth.

At the close of the season Gehrig was selected as the most valuable player to his team in the league.

Says Parents Gave Wrong Age For Girl In Marriage Permit

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 1. — Charging her parents gave the age of Mary Saranese, 12, as 16 years in applying for a license before her marriage to Alfonso Zaccarri, 30, of Latrobe, Joseph Saranese, 21, of Latrobe, Monday filed a petition for annulment of the marriage.

Saranese, asserted that he found the wedding festivities in full swing when he returned home April 23. Taking his sister, he escaped from the house and turned the girl over to juvenile court officers.

Sportraits

Paul Easterling, Detroit rookie, is playing such bangup ball these days that Tiger fans see another Bob Fothergill in him.

Easterling is a husky boy and a smashing hitter, just like Bob. He also came to the Tigers from Bloomington of the Three-I league, the same club that gave Detroit Fothergill.

Last year Easterling batted for .348. In the first four games with Detroit this year he hit three home runs.

the Senators marked New York's fourth straight win and Washington's seventh consecutive defeat. The Nats knocked out Pipgras but Moore stopped them cold.

The world's champions are again making a runaway of the American league race. They now lead Cleveland by more than 100 points and have turned in one-tenth of the 100 victories set by manager Huggins as his goal for 1928.

Browns Trim Cleveland

The up-and-coming St. Louis Browns handed Kewpie Buckeye a terrible shellacking and swamped Cleveland 10 to 3. The batting of Kress and the pitching of Blaeholder, St. Louis recruits from Tulsa, Okla., were features. Kress, who is leading the league's hitters, got four safeties.

Detroit is first in automobiles and first in rum-running, but may soon be last in the American league. The toothless Tigers chased Red Faber to the showers, ruining the veteran's 1928 debut, but couldn't do any business with Al Thomas and lost to the White Sox, 10 to 6.

Chalmers Cissell, Chicago's de luxe shortstop, has worked off part of his large board bill by hitting safely in his thirteenth consecutive game.

What is a used car bargain? Is it a used car of uncertain age and mechanical condition, sold at a so-called "marked down" price? Or is it a good car, sold by a reliable dealer, for a price that he knows is fair? We know automobiles. That's our business! And we know what they're worth when we take them in trade on new Buicks. We always give our used car customers a square deal—both in the price and in the condition of the car. Our reputation is too valuable to risk by anything short of absolute fairness and honesty.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 1.—Moderate advances were scored in a few of the oil and motor stocks in irregular trading in the first period today. The Standard Oils of New York and New Jersey held their position of leadership in the oil group, while Hudson and Mack trucks led the oils. Curtiss aero sold above 109 for the first time, covering a spread of about 40 points on the movement.

Steel trade centers reported a softening of prices, and similar conditions prevailed in the petroleum markets. The renewal rate on call loans was 6 per cent., unchanged from the previous session.

Standard oil of New York and New Jersey; Atlantic Refining, also a Standard oil stock; Texas Corporation; Sinclair and Marland constituted the active group in the oils, and, after early irregularity prices stiffened all along the line. Investment buying of the oils was reported to be a factor of increasing importance, large blocks of the low-priced standards having been taken out of the market in recent weeks. Texas corporation sold in good volume above 64, up 2 points.

Hudson's 7-point rise to 88½ followed reports of record-breaking output in the first four months of the year, with heavy commitments for May. Pullman, Victor Talking Mach., Goodrich, Spicer Manufacturing, Westinghouse, Davison Chemical, Central Alloy Steel and Remington Rand rose nearly two points each in active trading. The rails were quiet and featureless, the public utilities firm.

Bishop Bast Is In Attendance At Conference

Presence Of Bishop Bast May Mean Immediate Trial And Possibly Expulsion

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 1.—The presence of Bishop Anton Bast, Copenhagen, Denmark, central figure in a church scandal that has rocked religious circles in two continents, was an unexpected development in the opening here today of the Quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Bishop Bast, elected to the Episcopacy in 1920, was accused in Denmark of imprudent conduct and misapplication of mission funds. He was suspended from office pending a church trial. However, he was tried in Danish courts, convicted and sentenced to serve three months in prison.

His arrival here, wholly unannounced, is expected to result in an immediate church trial which probably will result in his expulsion or exoneration.

For the first time in the history of the church, a general conference opened with a Communion service for delegates. The impressive service today was led by Bishop Joseph F. Berry of Philadelphia, senior bishop of the church, with thirty-six other bishops assisting.

The month-long conference is being held in Convention Hall.

DRAGS BABE FROM TRAFFIC DEATH

When Harriet Hagaman, of Tulsa, Okla., grows up she will hear the story of how Petrolia Queen, her uncle's dog, saved her life by dragging her from the path of a speeding auto. Harriet, three years old, was playing on the walk under the watchful eye of the canine, when she toddled into the street in front of the car. The dog leaped out and dragged her back. Petrolia Queen and Harriet are shown above.

fore it pushed off on the fatal trip.

Circumstances surrounding the accident were not clearly established, but it was thought the log crashed into the skiff and overturned it.

Mary Gladdis was found clinging to the overhanging branch of a tree on the shore of the river, while Kennedy was removed from the water unconscious and revived at Curry's home.

Another version of the accident was that the boat struck a wire with which a nearby flatboat was anchored, while still a third version was that the boat sank near its dock when one of the negro occupants attempted to leap to land.

The skiff was being used in place of a flatboat ferry because of the high stage of the river.

ETTA KETT — BREAKING IT EASY — BY PAUL ROBINSC

For your breakfast and your better health

Of course, most people eat Heinz Rice Flakes for breakfast because of their crunchy goodness and their delicate, nut-like flavor.

But there is another, equally inviting, equally important reason for eating these delightful flakes of rice.

This reason is the better health, the Joy of Living, which Heinz Rice Flakes help to promote.

For, by a special, patented Heinz process, Heinz Rice Flakes are naturally "laxatized". This unique process utilizes the natural roughage of the rice itself in such a way as to impart to Heinz Rice Flakes a mild laxative quality, enabling them to assist Nature in keeping you "fit as a fiddle".

To Dedicate New Church

Ceremonies At Slippery Rock Presbyterian Church To Start Wednesday

WILL CONCLUDE ON SUNDAY EVENING

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., May 1.—The dedication exercises of the recently completed Presbyterian church will begin tomorrow evening and continue until Sunday evening.

Wednesday evening the Methodists and the United Presbyterians will unite with the Presbyterians in a union service of praise and prayer, which will be followed by a social hour with a program of music, conversation and refreshments.

Thursday evening the pipe organ in the new edifice will be dedicated in connection with a recital to be given by Harvey B. Gaul, the eminent musical critic, composer and organist of Calvary Episcopal church of Pittsburgh. He will be assisted by a boy soprano from the Calvary church choir.

Friday evening will be an evening of memories given by Rev. Moore of Zelienople and Rev. Dr. Bowden of Parnassus, former pastors, and by Dr. McNeese of North Washington.

The dedication of the building will take place on Sunday, the dedicatory sermon being by the Rev. Murdoch McLeod, D. D., of the Shadyside Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh. In the evening Dr. McLeod will preach at a union meeting with the other churches of the town.

The building, which was completed and furnished at a cost of about $70,000, contains two auditoriums, a club room, a chapel, a stage with dressing rooms, a kitchen equipped with every convenience, parlors for men and for women, and about 25 smaller rooms for varied social and Sunday school purposes. It is said by persons of wide experience to be as well equipped a temple of worship and service as can be found in a town of this size any where in the nation. Built of stone, with art-glass windows, and carpeted throughout, it is also of unusual beauty, both within and without.

The dedicatory services are all open without charge to the public, and persons interested will be cordially welcomed. There will be no financial campaign in connection with the week's exercises. The building is open constantly and persons driving thru town are cordially invited to stop and inspect it at any time.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

There are several ways of seeing your city. Walking around, riding in an automobile or flying over it in a plane. There is yet another way, more spectacular than any of these perhaps, and that is to view it from the top of the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Atop the hospital there is a pent house for the elevator shaft and climbing up onto the top of this gives one a view of his city that is worth while.

It is a panorama of New Castle and the hills surrounding the city. Away to the south is the industrial district belching out the smoke that testifies that an army of workmen are engaged down there. To the east is the Chestnut street standpipe standing up like some sentry on duty and down a ways the Franklin Junior high school. The Cathedral stands out in bold relief and over across from the hospital is the new George Washington Junior High school that is rising rapidly.

North of the hospital the Pennsylvania tracks wind along the river like some giant snake and up from them the hills that are a part of Lawrence county.

It's a wonderful sight and as I stood there Monday on the top of that pent house I could not help but regret that the man who was responsible for it was not there to enjoy it. He loved New Castle, did David Jameson and that remarkable building that will bear his name would have given him a deep sense of pleasure were he but here to see it for himself.

It's a pleasure to meet unusual people and Judge Florence E. Allen comes within this classification. It was a pleasure to hear her talk but a lot more interesting to talk to her. She is typically American. Self reliant, keen minded and tolerant of the other fellow's view point, she is a figure to which all American women can point with pride.

The Teapot Dome investigation having come to the usual end it now becomes time for something else to be investigated. Why not restaurant hash? The American public would like to know what is in it and certainly this would take up a lot of time for the Senatorial investigators.
